ITALY REPORTS WAR ON FRANCE WILL END FRIDAY OR SATURDAY

'Coalition' Move Made on G. O. P. Convention Eve

Stimson Appointed Secretary of War, Knox Secretary of Navy, as F. D. R. Adds Two Republicans to Cabinet Posts.

BULLETIN

PHILADELPHIA—(UP)—President Roosevelt accompanied original coalition cabinet proposals with a promise that he would not be a third term candidate and may have repeated the pledge in bringing two distinguished Republicans into his official family, party leaders said today.

By GEORGE DURNO
(INS Staff Correspondent)

WASHINGTON—In a move for a "coalition" cabinet, President Roosevelt today appointed Henry L. Stimson as secretary of war to succeed Harry Woodring, whose resignation was just accepted, and at the same time named Col. Frank Knox as secretary of the navy.

Stimson served as secretary of state in the Hoover administration and as secretary of war in the Taft administration.

Knox, Chicago publisher, was Republican vice-presidential candidate in 1936.

Woodring's resignation, according to the White House, was "so full of personal reasons" that it will not be made public. It will take effect upon Stimson's confirmation as his successor.

Knox will succeed to the navy portfolio, provided the senate confirms, on June 24, the date upon which Charles Edison's resignation to run for governor of New Jersey becomes effective.

Ever since the international situation became critical and the national defense program put into high gear, it has been predicted that President Roosevelt would put new men into the war and navy posts.

By selecting two outstanding Republicans, Mr. Roosevelt further confirmed the reports that he planned to form a non-partisan "defense" cabinet.

Both Stimson and Knox have been outspoken in their approval

Yum! Yum! . . . Mike's In a Strawberry Patch

NAZI, BRITISH PLANES TRADE BOMB ATTACKS

ENGLAND HIT AGAIN

Over 100 Hitler Planes In Biggest Raid Yet Made Over Britain.

(By United Press)

LONDON—More than 100 German planes raided Britain last night as the Royal Air Force struck back fiercely with bombing attacks deep into German territory.

The German attack on Britain was the second on successive nights. German planes bombed parts of England, Wales and Scotland.

An authoritative source said that "considerably more" than 100 German planes carried out the attack. Three German bombers were brought down by RAF fighters, another was believed to have been destroyed by anti-aircraft fire and several more were believed damaged badly.

"Large numbers of bombs," it was said, "were dropped in various parts of the country. It was the biggest raid yet."

Visibility last night was poorer than on the previous night, a factor that aided the German bombers in avoiding interception.

The raiders concentrated to a greater extent on industrial areas.

The British blackout was reported effective and proved a great assistance in thwarting the bombers.

British air attacks on German airdromes in France were said to have "proved very successful."

As the German planes flew over Britain, British Royal Air Force planes attacked German airdromes in the Amiens and Rouen areas of occupied France and military objectives and communications in the German Rhineland and the Ruhr and on

French Envoys To Meet Hitler On Peace Bid

Exact Place of Meeting In Territory Occupied By Nazis Not Announced; 50,000 Poilus Surrender to Swiss Authorities.

(By Associated Press)

Hostilities between France and the Axis armies are expected to cease Friday—or Saturday at the latest—the official Italian news agency reported today, asserting that French plenipotentiaries have started back to Bordeaux with the terms dictated by Hitler and Mussolini.

The place of meeting between the French envoys, who arrived in a snow-white plane "somewhere" in German-occupied northern France, was not given.

Berlin, blaming "the difficulties of news transmission" via Spain, said a French government communication naming France's four peace plenipotentiaries did not reach the German government until 1 a. m. today (6 p. m., EST Wednesday).

"It could be transmitted to the fuehrer only at 4 a. m.," the broadcast said.

"The high command thereupon gave the necessary instructions immediately and made preparations for receiving the French armistice delegation."

Hitler's high command meanwhile announced the fall of Lyon, France's third largest city, 200 miles north of Marseille, and the capture of more than 200,000 prisoners, including General Altmeyer, commander of the 10th French army.

Fifty thousand French Poilus from the eastern Maginot line surrendered their arms this morning to Swiss soldiers and poured across the Swiss frontier.

Waves of German planes, attacking from midnight to dawn, rained new death and destruction on England in the opening phase of the "battle for Britain."

The German radio, in a cryptic report, declared that "members of the French government are not at all agreed on the question of laying down arms"—lending credence to unconfirmed reports that France has learned the gist of the Axis terms, found them too harsh for the nation's honor, and resolved to fight on.

These reports said President Lebrun and members of his government were ready to flee to Algiers, North Africa, to carry on the war from there, even if German troops capture all France.

The French admitted Nazi troops had occupied Lyon, rich industrial city, 200 miles south of Paris, but dispatches from Geneva simultaneously gave the first hint that the German mechanized machine has begun to wear out and falter.

Refugees reaching Geneva from the battle zone told of seeing quantities of abandoned German tanks, armored cars and motorcycles along the main highways.

Nazi motorcycle troops were also reported scouring

DETOUR OVER W. 4TH LIFTED

30-N Traffic to Be on Regular Route Until Paving Starts In July, Mayor Says.

Removal of U. S. route 30-N detour from Ausdale avenue was ordered today and traffic was again routed over West Fourth street, closed for the past three months for water line extensions.

The announcement was made this morning by Mayor William J. Locke following a meeting with Murray D. Shaffer, division state highway engineer, at Ashland.

Locke said the detour had been lifted only temporarily or until the state starts paving the roadway from North Diamond street to Ausdale avenue.

Contract for the paving which is expected to be completed by Nov. 30, was awarded to the Mansfield Asphalt Paving company earlier this week on the firm's bid of $67,937.

Shaffer said this morning that it would probably be after the July Fourth holiday before actual construction is started. The project, to be done under supervision of the highway department, will employ approximately 200 WPA workers.

Construction will be started at North Diamond street and move westward with only two of three blocks closed at one time.

Strawberry Time Arrives and City's Housewives Are Busy

It's strawberry time in Mansfield.

Pickers are busy in the berry patches of Richland county farms. Kitchens of Mansfield housewives are filled with the aroma of berries cooking into jams and preserves, and ovens are turning out shortcake for the king of June dinner desserts.

Reports from downtown markets show that Mansfield is "really going" for strawberries.

One Mansfield merchant sold 500 quarts of the luscious red berries yesterday, and others probably sell in comparison.

But the market will be short lived this year in spite of the large crop, merchants say. The reason is that continued wet weather is forcing blossoms and small berries ahead so that they will all develop and ripen within a very short time.

Markets over the city are actually cluttered up with strawberry crates in the morning, and by night the supply is gone, because of the unusual demand

The prevailing price is 10 cents a quart, which is about as cheap as they ever get, merchants say. The quality is surprisingly good considering the weather, for excessive rains frequently make the berries flat in flavor or watery

One market today displays a big "bouquet" of berries They were in clusters on long stems and in all stages of color from pale green to dark red.

Summer and 'Longest Days' Arrive Officially Tomorrow

Tomorrow is Summer Solstice—the first day of summer to you. It should be the longest day of the year, but this year there is one solid week of "longest days"

With winter hanging on until May 1 and spring being an obnoxious combination of snow, sleet and continuous rain for weeks, it is natural to wonder what summer will be this year.

The new season comes in at 8:37 a. m. tomorrow and remains until September 22—regardless of the weather. The "longest days" are now exactly 15 hours and seven minutes long. The sun rises at 4:28 a. m. and sets at 7:35 p. m.

On Thursday the day will be one minute shorter when the sun rises at 4:29 a. m. The days thereafter are reduced until Dec. 22 which will be the shortest day in the year.

Although the temperature has been beyond the 90 mark during the temperamental spring just ending, this last day of spring finds thermometers doing a nose dive. It was 61 degrees at noon today and yesterday's maximum temperature was only 76.

'DADDY' ILL

Rev. Millar, Oldest Mansfield Resident, Confined to Bed.

Rev. D. B. "Daddy" Millar, Mansfield's oldest citizen who celebrated his 100th birthday June 7, is confined to his home with the infirmities of age, it was learned today.

The centenarian had kept up his strength in anticipation of his birthday anniversary and his appearance at Masonic temple where he was honored by several groups.

He became ill shortly after his birthday and has been confined to his bed since. His condition today, however, was considerably improved. His wife, who suffered a fractured hip in a fall several months ago, is also an invalid in the Millar home on Bowman street.

FOLLY: Hull Lashes Tyranny Hits Isolation Supporters

(By Associated Press)

CAMBRIDGE, Mass.—Secretary of State Cordell Hull, lashing out at what he called "the massed forces of lust for tyrannical power," asserted today there could be "no more dangerous folly" than to think that America's achievements could be preserved by isolation.

Without naming any country or individual by name, Hull declared in an address which concluded Harvard university's 304th year that already "nation after nation has been crushed into surrender, overrun and enslaved by the exercise of brute force combined with fraud and guile."

"And," he continued, "as the dismal darkness descends upon more and more of the earth's surface, as its menacing shadow falls blacker and blacker athwart our continent, the very instinct of self-preservation bids us beware."

The secretary of state said this country had "the power to meet that menace successfully, if we, at this time, face the task which is before us in the same spirit in which former generations of Americans met the crises that confronted them in their times. . . .

"I am supremely confident that we shall not fail," he added.

At the same time, Hull declared his belief that isolation from the rest of the world would be "folly."

"Our American history has not been achieved in isolation from the rest of mankind," he asserted.

See What Happens Here--People Pay Their Taxes Early

With $38,167 in property tax funds already collected 10 days before the Richland county tax books are scheduled to open, County Treasurer John E. Kolb today looked for one of the best collections in recent years during the last-half payment period.

The advance collections received a boost yesterday when one of the county's largest industrial firms paid more than $14,000 into the tax till. Smaller payments have been coming in for the past two weeks.

Kolb has an $800,000 tax bill to collect when the books open July 1, but approximately $200,000 of that amount represents delinquent taxes and he will be satisfied, he says, if he collects $650,000 of the total bill.

The treasurer attributed the early payments partly to the mailing of tax statements to property owners, reminding them of the approaching collection period. Tax books will be open until Aug. 20.

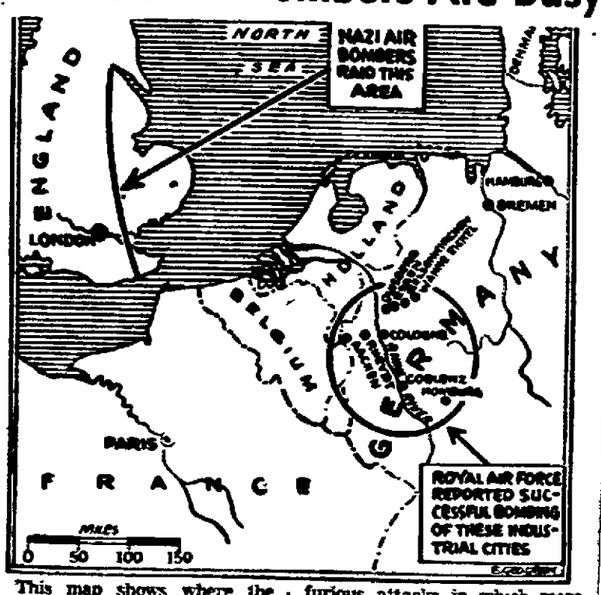
Where Nazi Bombers Are Busy



This map shows where the German bombers have begun to attack from the sky in their aerial blitzkrieg on Britain. Several deaths were reported in the furious attacks in which more than 100 Nazi planes participated. Meanwhile British bombing planes conducted raids on strategic German supply camps as shown on the map.

Frick Gives Catcher Mickey Owen Four-Day 'Vacation.'

NEW YORK—(AP)—President Ford Frick of the National league today suspended Catcher Mickey Owen of the St. Louis Cardinals for four days and fined him $50 for "conduct tending to incite disorder."

The offense was committed last night in the game between the Cardinals and Brooklyn Dodgers.

SIX ESCAPE

LANCASTER—(AP)—Authorities searched today for six inmates of the Boys' Industrial school who escaped within 24 hours. Four who fled in an automobile, found wrecked yesterday, were identified as Bernard Kelly, 19, Amherst; Robert Wilson, 17, Akron, and Lawrence Fenco, 16, and William Svette, 17, both of Cleveland. In a second break, Carson Harris 16, Cleveland, and Clyde Oder, 18, Newark, escaped

FEAR: Turkey Evacuates City As Precaution Against Russia

(By International News Service)

ISTANBUL—Growing fear of Russia in Turkey has led to evacuation of Adrianople as a precautionary measure, according to unofficial reports in Istanbul today.

Confiscation of private automobiles for military use already has begun in Istanbul.

Because of continuing reports of Red army concentrations in the Crimea, authorities in Turkey expressed fears that Russia may be seeking to take over the Bosporus and Dardanelles on the same pretext that Moscow used for occupation of the Baltic countries of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia.

Editor's Note—When these occupations occurred, Moscow explained they were carried out because Soviet borders were threatened. Yesterday, in London, an authoritative Russian source revealed that Russia marched into the Baltic states because of discovery of a German-inspired and Nazi-financed anti-Soviet plot in those countries.)

There was extensive activity at Istanbul military depots, indicat-

EXPLANATION: Petain Tells Why French Lost to Germans

(By International News Service)

BORDEAUX, France—Formal announcement that France has named plenipotentiaries to negotiate an armistice with Nazi Germany was made by Premier Marshal Henri Philippe Petain in a radio broadcast today.

"Too few children, too few arms and too few Allies were the cause of our defeat," the 84-year-old hero of Verdun said in a choking voice.

"People of France: I have asked the enemy to put an end to hostilities.

"The government yesterday appointed plenipotentiaries to receive the conditions of peace.

"I took this decision with the stout heart of a soldier, because the military situation imposed it.

"We hoped to resist in the Somme-Aisne line. Enemy pressure, however, forced our troops to retreat from June 13 onward.

"The request for an armistice was inevitable.

"The blow surprised you. Remembering 1914 to 1918 you sought reasons for it.

"I am going to give them.

"On May 1, 1917, we had 3,280,000 men under arms despite three years of murderous fighting.

"On the eve of the present battle we had 500,000 fewer.

"In May, 1918, we had 85 British divisions. In May, 1940, we had only ten.

"In 1918 we had fifty Italian divisions and forty-two American divisions.

"Inferiority of our material was even greater than that of our effectives.

"French aviation fought at odds of one to six.

"Not so strong as 22 years ago, we had fewer friends, too few

EUROPE BURNS MORE U. S. COAL AS WAR RESULT

Sharp Increase in Exports Reported by Secretary of Interior Ickes.

WASHINGTON — (U.P.) — Outbreak of the European war precipitated a sharp increase in European consumption of American coal for the first time in many years, according to Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes.

Europe imported 112,338 gross tons of American bituminous coal in March, 1940, compared with an average of 833 gross tons a month in 1938. There were no shipments in 1939 until after war was declared in September. In 1938, all shipments of American coal went to France, but since the war began Norway, Sweden, Denmark, Italy, Portugal, Spain, Switzerland, Russia and Iceland have begun using coal produced in this country.

Shipments to South America have increased, likewise, with Argentina, Brazil and Chile accounting for virtually all of the increased exports. American mines shipped 148,441 gross tons to South American ports in March, against an average of 18,494 gross tons a month in 1938.

European imports, it was believed, increased because producers in Western Europe ceased operations or curtailed their production as the war spread.

Despite augmented shipments to Europe and South America, however, America's total coal shipments have been reduced since November, due to diminished shipments to Canada, Ickes said. Total exports amounted to 512,390 gross tons in January, 510,237 in February and 602,037 in March.

Under normal circumstances, Canada is the best market for United States coal. Canadian industries imported an average of 711,289 gross tons monthly in 1938 and 742,181 gross tons monthly in 1939. Imports of American coal this year have been cut drastically. Canada took 290,457 gross tons in January, 281,148 in February and 292,032 gross tons in March.

LONG WORK DAY

Sculptor Wants Industrious Students in Workshop.

NEW ORLEANS—(U.P.)—Urbici Soler, Spanish sculptor who is newly appointed resident artist at Newcomb college, says he intends to start a workshop more like those of the Middle Ages than modern times.

"So many students come out of the school of fine arts not knowing how to make a living," declares Soler, whose best known work in this country is "Cristo Rey," the 40-foot monument to Christ overlooking the city of El Paso.

Soler is planning a workshop for students who will give 10 to 12 hours daily to their work. Because he thinks "life is so short," Soler has mapped a daily routine: three or four hours each morning for modeling from real life; the next one or two hours for development of the technical crafts, such as casting in bronze and silver, wood carving, pottery and stone cutting; two hours of modeling from nudes; and the remainder of the day's work time devoted to sculpture and life drawing.

His courses will not be part of the school's curriculum.

Janitor at O. S. U. Declares Co-eds Careless In Mud

COLUMBUS, O.—(U.P.)—Academic survey methods have permeated the janitorial departments of Ohio State university.

William Daehler, janitor of Orton hall, has conducted a survey of the feet-wiping habits of the university's students and found the co-eds were more careless and neglectful of the practice of wiping their feet upon entering the building than were the men.

Installing two door-mats at the Orton hall entrance during a muddy period, Dathler conducted a two-hour observation and reported:

"Can you imagine it? Nine-tenths of 10 co-eds walked right past my new mats, tracking mud all over the floor. But the boys used the mat; only a few of them failing to see it."

CLAIMS 'CHUTE CAN'T GO WRONG

PIERCE CITY, Mo.— (U.P.) — Harry G. Shaffer insists he has invented a parachute so safe that it is the next thing to being on the ground.

It can be wadded like a raincoat, according to Shaffer, whereas ordinary parachutes must be folded carefully. Instead of having to dive out of a plane, count three and pull a rip-cord, Shaffer said, one only has to dive out with his invention.

Co-eds Forging Ahead of Men In Physical Growth

KENT, O. — (U.P.) — Co-eds are taller, heavier and have "much more rounded muscular development" today than a few decades ago, according to Dr. A. O. DeWeese, director of Kent State university's health service.

"Not only that," he said, "but modern co-eds are forging ahead of male college students in comparable physical development. This is because the girls are more temperate, eat and sleep more regularly, dress more naturally and exercise more sensibly than male students."

The physical development among students has become increasingly apparent during the past 15 years, Dr. DeWeese said. Records of Kent State university students, who are given physical and medical examinations in their freshman year, are the basis for the report.

Braves Rally In Ninth to Topple Fremont Green Sox

Score 4 Times In Registering 8 to 7 Triumph

Mansfield Climbs Within Four and a Half Games of Lead In Ohio State Loop Race.

A THRILLING four-run rally in the ninth gave the Mansfield Braves an 8 to 7 victory over the Green Sox under the arcs at Fremont last night in an Ohio State league tussle.

Tony Scotti, righthander, is expected to get the call for mound duty as the Braves clash with Fremont before a "Tappan Stove" night crowd at the Fairground at 8:15 today.

The Mansfield triumph, coupled with Lima's 6 to 5 win over the pace-setting Findlay club in 11 innings last night, enabled it to climb within four and a half games of first place. Lima is one game out of top position.

Trailing by a 7 to 4 count going into the ninth, the Braves put together five hits to emerge with the victory. Mansfield employed four hurlers last night with Eatile Angaran, who relieved Al Benton in the seventh, receiving credit for the win. Benton, a rookie righthander, joined the Braves wigwam Monday. He hails from Ashland.

Paced by Howard Beals, who cracked out a triple and two singles, the Braves forged ahead in the first, but Fremont found George Laurila, Mansfield's starting hurler, for a run in the first and two more in the second to take a lead it held until the Brave uprising in the ninth.

Meanwhile, in an effort to keep Mansfield from denting the plate, the Green Sox used four hurlers. Johnny Stauther was the victim of the four-run splurge.

Matt Miazga, Gene Woodlin, Eldon Dice and Walt Missler each contributed two hits in the Braves 13-hit attack. Beals, star shortstop was the only Mansfielder to pound out an extra-base clout.

In the other circuit contest last night, Tiffin clubbed out 19 hits off four Fostoria pitchers to chalk up a one-sided, 15 to 2, triumph.

SPORTS PARADE

By HENRY McLEMORE

NEW YORK—(U.P.)—There will be a game of squat tag played at Yankee stadium tonight between Arturo Godoy and Joe Louis.

The second meeting between these two men is billed as a fight for the heavyweight championship of the world, but it stands little chance of developing into that. Godoy's style of fighting Louis calls for a minimum of fighting. It calls mostly for squatting, bouncing, jumping, swaying, grimacing, clutching and almost anything else which will keep him so busy that he won't ever have time to stand straight up and exchange punches with the champion.

A fight expert with nothing better to do kept track of the miles that Godoy ran in his roadwork training for the fight and found that he covered 450 miles, or roughly the distance between Los Angeles and Phoenix. This stress on conditioning his legs indicates that Godoy is ready for the race of his life tonight. There is a report that Godoy has asked the boxing commission to ask the racing commission if he, Godoy, can use the electric starting gate in his corner, and also carry whip and spurs, so that he can get the best out of himself.

The A. A. U. also plans to have an official timer at the ringside to clock Godoy on the chance that he may better the time of Glenn Cunningham and turn in the long-awaited four minute mile. There are a lot of us, in and out of condition, who might do even better than that if we had an angered Joe Louis chasing us.

And Joe is likely to be angry tonight. He didn't like the boos and hisses the crowd gave him after his first fight with Godoy, and feels that he was made a fool of by the capering, crouching South American.

In his training he worked chiefly with sparring partners who simulated Godoy's croquet wicket stance. Toward the finish of his training Louis had developed a crouch of his own.

Meets Louis In Title Bout

Chilean Gets Second Chance to Win Championship; Louis Guns for Knockout.

By GAYLE TALBOT

NEW YORK—(AP)—Arturo Godoy of Chile, who is something less than an inspired fighter, gets his second chance at the world heavyweight championship tonight, when, barring rain, he meets Joe Louis over the 15-round route in Yankee stadium.

Their first scrap last February was far from sensational, yet the mere fact that he lasted the full 15 rounds with the Negro champion qualified the South American iron man for an encore. The betting is 5 to 1 against Godoy lifting the title, yet most experts give him an excellent chance of going the limit again.

The build-up for this, Louis' 11th defense of his crown, has emphasized the Negro's well known pride in the power of his fists and his dislike of having an opponent remain erect at the final bell. He has without fail knocked out every man he met the second time.

He might, at that, but the task promises difficulties. Louis is in better shape than he was the other time and is in a vengeful frame of mind. But so is his rugged, powerful rival in better condition, and Godoy besides is brimming with confidence born of their other bout. In size they are about a stand-off.

The only thing Arturo appears to lack is a genuine knockout punch in his own fists. If Louis didn't hurt him seriously in their first fight, then Arturo certainly did not cause the big Negro any great distress, except insofar as his crouching and holding tactics got on Joe's nerves.

The likelihood is that tonight's audience of probably 30,000 will see a repetition of the first scrap, with Godoy bulling in, hitting from his crouch and then clinching, and Louis trying furiously to open the Chilean up for a few solid smacks on the jaw.

Mayer Leads Entry

Ten Mansfield Golfers to Participate in Publinks Tournament.

HEADED by Joe Mayer, 10 Mansfield shotmakers will invade Akron Friday to prepare to participate in the 11th annual Public Links golf tournament, scheduled for Saturday and Sunday.

Mayer, who finished third in the classic at Dayton last year, two strokes behind the champion, will be out to win his first major title. Ranked as one of the outstanding amateurs in this district he will lead the largest entry ever to represent Mansfield.

They will play 72 holes Saturday and Sunday. Play will split into morning and afternoon rounds. The Mansfielders will practice Friday on the two Firestone courses.

The first 20 golfers in the tournament will be eligible for the Ohio Amateur starting in Cleveland June 26.

At least 82 golfers—a new record—will play in the meet this year. Ken Peterson, Dayton, will defend his championship.

4 Games Scheduled In Knot-Hole Loop

Four games in the Friendly House Knot-hole Gang league are scheduled to be played at the Fairgrounds Friday.

With the first game starting at 9 a. m., two contests are on the card for the morning and two for the afternoon. The first game in the afternoon duo will begin at 1 p. m.

The morning games are Red Sox vs. Yankees and Cubs vs. Braves, while the Pirates will tackle the Dodgers and the Indians will tangle with the Giants in the afternoon. The afternoon tilts were to have been played June 10th, but were rained out.

Terriers Hold Slim Lead

Only One Game in Front of Charleston Senators.

AKRON —(AP)— Canton's Terriers, defending champions of the Mid-Atlantic league, held a slim one-game lead on the Charleston Senators today after a 2-to-1 reversal by the Akron Yanks last night.

The Terriers made 11 hits off Bernie Barnett, but the blows were kept well scattered. Catcher Karl Hower paced the Akron hitting attack with three doubles.

Dayton handed Portsmouth's Red Birds their fifth straight setback, 6 to 4, at Portsmouth. Homers by Moon Meyer and Al Simmons helped the Dayton cause. Each team made six hits.

LORAIN SEEKS GAMES

Lorain's American Legion softball club announced today that the team would like to book games with outfits in Mansfield and vicinity. The team is in the Class "A" division.

Dodgers Forge Back on Victory Trail With Win

Brooklyn Ends Cards' Six-Game Winning Streak With 8 to 3 Triumph Under Lights.

By JUDSON BAILEY, Associated Press Sports Writer.

IN A ROUGH and tumble fight for the National league pennant, there is no club better fitted to triumph than the Brooklyn Dodgers.

That's why they're right back in a virtual tie with the Cincinnati Reds today for first place in the senior circuit.

The 8-3 trouncing they gave the St. Louis Cardinals last night gave them a percentage of .3600. The Reds, who were idle yesterday, have a mark of .3603, if carried into the realm of higher mathematics, and still are technically half a game in front.

The final fracas of the Dodgers-Cards series was as wild and whoopee as any vaudeville ever staged on Broadway and practically as little like baseball.

The shadow of Ducky Medwick's unfortunate "beaning" hovered over the game, and the players of both teams had trouble keeping their minds on the play of the moment. There were nine errors in the game, seven by St. Louis, four by Shortstop Martin Marion and three of his in one inning—tying a major league record.

Manager Billy Southworth of the Cards kept Pitcher Bob Bowman, who threw the ball that struck Medwick, away from the park last night to avert trouble, but in the third inning Catcher Mickey Owen of St. Louis and Manager-Shortstop Leo Durocher of the Dodgers got into a fist fight, and the going was tense from start to finish.

But that's the kind of track that the hard-running Dodgers take to best, and they ended their own four game losing streak and the Cards' six game winning string in one swift swoop. They pounded Fiddler Bill McGee for nine hits in seven and two-thirds innings and these, linked with the errors and two double steals that worked, easily brought Whitlow Wyatt his sixth victory.

The only other National league engagement was at Boston, where the Pittsburgh Pirates battered the Bees, 5-1, behind Joe Bowman's effective hurling.

In the American league, the St. Louis Browns again rose up with a great display of lese majeste and bumped the Boston Red Sox, 6-4. Walt Judnich, the former Yankee chattel, hit a two-run homer and a single with the bases loaded.

The Yankees might very well have used him, because they were held to seven widely spaced hits by Lefty Thornton Lee and shut out, 1-0, in Chicago. It was the world champions' fourth straight loss and their second successive setback by a White Sox southpaw.

Al Smith Comeback Sensation of American League

Paces Indian Hurlers

Southpaw Has Scored 7 Wins; Third Best Mark In Circuit.

By RAY BLOSSER

CLEVELAND—(AP)—The man who declared "they never come back" wasn't acquainted with Pitcher Alfred John Smith.

A year ago all the National league clubs figured the 32-year-old southpaw was "washed up." The Cleveland Indians picked him up from Buffalo and today's he's the comeback sensation of the American loop.

The black-haired hurler figures he is near the pitching lead, through seven victories and only one defeat, because he developed a good screwball pitch and control during his exile from the senior circuit. Only Detroit's Lyn (Schoolboy) Rowe and Buck Newsom have better records.

"I haven't got enough stuff to get by unless I have excellent control," he declared. "I threw too many good balls with the New York Giants—'fat' pitches that the batters could hit.

"My lack of control also caused the Phillies to let me go last spring." So all the National league teams waived him down the river to Buffalo.

Smith always had "dabbled a bit" with a screwball delivery, but was afraid to use it. He experimented under the tutelage of Steve O'Neill, former Cleveland manager who pilots the International leaguers, and wound up last season with 16 wins and only two beatings.

"My curve and fast ball are not as good now as when I was in the National, but I'm mixing them up a little more," he explained.

Only the Yanks have beaten him, and that was by one run. His latest triumph was a 2-1 decision over Washington Tuesday night.

Medwick Out for 3 Weeks

Joe Medwick, star outfielder of the Brooklyn Dodgers, will be out of the lineup for three weeks following a brain concussion suffered when he was hit by a ball pitched by Bob Bowman of the St. Louis Cardinals during a game in Brooklyn. Medwick is shown unconscious after being struck.

Revitalized Indians Go After 5th Victory

CLEVELAND—(AP)—Apparently revitalized by just getting off their chests a complaint about an indigestible diet of barbed Vittelcisms, the Cleveland Indians went after their fifth straight victory today.

Rapid Robert Feller was nominated to turn the trick in the third and last game of the series with the Washington Senators. The Nats relied on young Walter Masterson, who held the Tribe to four hits in the capital a couple of weeks ago.

Behind the pitching of Johnny Allen, Cleveland set down the Senators 4 to 1 yesterday for the sixth win in seven starts since 12 players protested against Vitt's ridicule of them.

Allen scattered eight hits in seven innings, the Nats putting two together only once. The victory was the fourth for the fiery righthander, who has three shutouts to his credit, and moved the Indians to within a half game of the loop leader, Boston. Cleveland dropped to third place, back of Detroit, on percentage, however.

Lou Boudreau and Ray Mack led the Tribal attack with two singles apiece, while Hal Trosky got his 15th home run of the season in the third with the bases empty.

Ken Chase, only left-hander who has beaten the Indians twice this season, was chased from the mound after yielding six hits in five innings, and the Tribe collected three more off Joe Haynes and Joe Krakauskas

DODGERS FORCED BACK ON VICTORY TRAIL

The Detroit Tigers assumed exclusive possession of second place by whipping the Philadelphia Athletics in both ends of a doubleheader while the Cleveland Indians were doing all they had a chance to do in stopping the Washington Senators, 4-1.

The tandem triumphs by Detroit gave Buck Newsom his eighth victory against one defeat and Schoolboy Rowe his fifth without a scar. Hank Greenberg singled across the deciding run in the tenth inning for the 5-4 decision in the first game for Newsom. In the nightcap, Rowe pitched shutout ball until the eighth, by which time Detroit had the 9-4 victory salted away.

Redleg Hurlers Can't Seem to Keep In Step

Spotty Pitching of Derringer and Walters Constant Worry to McKechnie.

PHILADELPHIA—(AP)—Bucky Walters started the 1940 baseball season like a house afire and Paul Derringer had his troubles. Now it's the other way around.

The brother act which carried the Cincinnati Reds to last year's pennant can't seem to get in step this year and it's taken some stalwart pitching by Gene Thompson, Jim Turner, Whitey Moore and Joe Beggs to keep the Reds at or near the front.

Bucky went nine games without losing and hopes were expressed that he would break the major league record for consecutive victories. Then he lost four straight.

Paul went by fits and starts for a few weeks and was pitching under the 500 mark. Then he broke loose with six straight and now his record is nine won, four lost, the same as Bucky's.

If the two fellows could maintain the 9-4 ratio the rest of the way, Manager Bill McKechnie would have little to worry about.

Further, a big factor in the eight losses for the two pitchers has been some extraordinarily lightweight hitting on the part of the Redleg batters. Bucky and Paul have been shelled off the mound a couple of times apiece, but most of their troubles have come because you can't win a ball game without runs.

The team's current batting average is 18 points lower than this time last year. Ernie Lombardi, who started out with a .350 drive, now is around .305. Frank McCormick is hitting .313. Nobody else among the regulars is above .300.

Something may be done to remedy the situation in today's game with the Phillies. Kirby Higbe for the Phils and either Thompson or Derringer for the Reds are the likely pitchers.

EDDIE OLIVER MAY HAVE CHANCE TO PROVE WORTH

CHICAGO—(INS)—Eddie Oliver of Hornell, N. Y., who was barred by disqualification from participating in the playoff for the National Open Golf championship, may yet have a chance to prove himself as one of the nation's top professionals, it was indicated today.

Lawson Little, who won the open title in a playoff with Gene Sarazen, invited Oliver to play him a series of three out of five 36-hole matches within the next month at locations to be decided upon later.

THEATERS

Toler Turns Real Detective.

Sidney Toler, who is Charlie Chan to moviegoers, receives many requests to use his detective ability off the screen. He is currently playing the title role in "Charlie Chan's Murder Cruise" which is showing at the Madison theater. In this picture he is faced with his toughest assignment when he sets out to trap the killer who has strangled his best friend. Another new Hopalong Cassidy drama "Hidden Gold" is the co-feature, starring William Boyd.

Ann Sheridan Involved.

As the title indicates "Torrid Zone" has a tropical setting down in the banana country, where the big fruit companies own and manage vast plantations. James Cagney and Pat O'Brien are cast as rough and ready plantation bosses, while Ann Sheridan portrays a torch singer from the U. S. A., who comes to the tropics because she figures redheads will be more of a novelty there. The plot revolves around O'Brien's efforts to keep Cagney in the tropics and to get rid of Miss Sheridan. This is the feature through Friday at the Ohio.

Blazing a Frontier Trail.

The daring of a man who risks everything on the turn of a single card to make the frontier trail safe for stagecoach travel forms the thrill-loaded background for the "Hopalong Cassidy" western, "Sunset Trail" which is showing through this week at the Park theater. The story relates how William Boyd tracks down a gambling outlaw who has been terrorizing the trail to Sacramento. Martha Raye and Bob Hope are co-featured in "Never Say Die," comedy feature.

Bogart as Mystery Man.

In "Return of Dr. X" which opens Friday at the Majestic, a newspaper reporter, played by Wayne Morris, comes across the lifeless body of an actress, the lovely Lya Lys, and a series of wild adventures follow. Morris prints his story and several days later the actress reappears to press charges. Morris loses his job and sets out to do some private sleuthing. Rosemary Lane, Dennis Morgan and Humphrey Bogart are in the cast with Morris. The co-feature is "Texas Stagecoach" starring Charles Starrett.

Radio Stars on Screen.

The King's Men, those popular radio singers recently heard with Rudy Vallee on the Charlie McCarthy program, are to be seen and heard in the Zane Grey film "Knights of the Range" showing at the Ritz. Jean Parker has the leading role with Russell Hayden, Britt Wood and Rad Robinson in the supporting cast. Martha Raye, Charlie Ruggles and Richard Denning have the leads in the co-feature "The Farmer's Daughter", a comedy about actors on a rural romp.

JUST A MINUTE—

Any day of the week is a good day for Want-Ad advertising in The Mansfield News-Journal, but for some types of advertisers one day is better than others.

THAT ONE DAY IS SUNDAY!

THERE'S A REASON

The family is together on Sunday. There is more time for reading. The man and woman in the home have an opportunity to discuss their wants and needs. If they see an advertisement that interests them, they can act —and act together.

People have more time to look at real estate on Sunday . . . more time to look for rooms and apartments on Sunday . . . more time to check the used car ads and discuss the make, model and price that best meets their individual requirements.

As a matter of fact, practically every classification of Want-Ad advertising profits by the fact that on Sunday there is more time for reading, and a better opportunity to discuss and investigate the merits of the advertisers' offerings.

Plan NOW to have your Want-Ad in this Sunday's News-Journal. The cost is small and the Want Ad Department will remain open until 8:00 P. M. Saturday for your convenience.

TAPPAN and Moose softball clubs registered wins in last night's Y. M. C. A. Commercial league tilts to maintain their hold on the Commercial loop's top berth.

The Tappans outpointed the Kobackers 7 to 4, while the Moose club edged the Service Cabs, 5 to 4.

Bricker toed the rubber for the Stovemen, allowing the Kobackers only five hits. Brown, Moose hurler, duplicated Bricker's five hit performance as he faced the cellar-dwelling Cabbies.

Although losing to the Moose softballers, Glide, Cabble pitcher, held the Moosemen to three hits and struck out four. Brown struck out seven to lead the league in strike outs last night.

* * *

Other scores in last night's Commercial loop contests were Barnes Challengers 25, Town Taverns 4 and Nick's Place 9, Isaly Dairys 9..

SPORTS GOSSIP

By EDDIE BRIETZ

NEW YORK — (AP) — Louis to polish off Godoy in six heats or less tonight. . . . Pepper Martin, who hasn't shaved since the Cards started winning, is having trouble getting into the hotel dining rooms. He looks like the original Tarzan, only worse. . . . When they finally get around to asking Joe Medwick for his side, he'll probably exonerate Bob Bowman of any intentional beaning — the two were good friends. . . . La Henie, carrying her ice in platinum is decorating the Chicago boulevards for a few days.

TODAY'S GUEST STAR.

Dick Walsh, Albany (N. Y.) Times-Union: "They're striking up the old Tiger Rag in Detroit again, and for the first time since 1936 it's ringing with sincerity . . . with the Tigers riding along in second place, the other clubs are beginning to think seriously about 'hold that Tiger'."

Latest dope is Arthur Donovan will get the refereeing assignment tonight, despite his magazine piece picking Louis. . . . Black days have come up Bill Dickey. He's now batting in seventh position for the Yanks, with only Babe Dahlgren and the pitchers between him and the bottom. . . . Guessing is Medwick is out for at least a month.

BLAME ILL DUSHAY.

Three Washington players were asked to explain the deep slump of the Senators. . . . "It's all on account of Italy getting into the war," one said. . . . Italy getting into the war unnerved Bananas Bonura. . . . He can't sleep no more. . . . He can't eat no more. . . . He can't field no more. . . . And everybody's slumping in sympathy with Zeke."

Millicent Hirsh, the New York tennis expert, is back from the south telling friends a place must be reserved for Archie Henderson, young North Carolina star, in anybody's first five. . . . Al McCoy, who showed class in trimming Melio Bettina, will be right on deck when they start picking a successor to Billy Conn as light-heavyweight king. . . . Gene Tunney owns a big slice of Neville Beech, the Mississippi heavy who'll be seen in one of the Louis-Godoy prelims tonight.

RED CROSS DEPT.

Members of the Rockville Country club at Rockville Center, L. I., have hit upon a novel plan to help the Red Cross. . . . They'll contribute a portion of their July 4 side bet winnings. . . . A good-looking member of the Red Cross will be stationed at the 18th hole to collect the dough. . . . It would be nice if golf clubs all over the country would swipe the idea.

FRED PIERSON OFFERED OLD POSITION BACK

PORTSMOUTH, O.—(INS)—Fred Pierson, athletic director at Tiltonville high school, has been offered his old position back at New Boston.

Heroes and Goats

THE HEROES—Buck Newsom and Schoolboy Rowe, Tiger pitchers, who took a doubleheader from the Athletics, Buck winning his eighth straight game and Rowe his fifth; Thornton Lee, White Sox, who shut out the Yanks.

THE GOATS—Herb Hash, Red Sox pitcher, who lost to the Browns, after his mates gave him a four run lead. Nelson Potter, Athletics who gave up a tying homer in the ninth and then blew the game in the tenth to the Tigers.

Helps to Improve the Aim?

Champion woman skeet shooter in these United States, Patricia Laursen, 19, of Akron, O., prettles up a bit on the range at Lordship, Conn., prior to participation in the Great Eastern championships, June 21-23. Pat has been tops for two years.

Witnesses of Medwick Injury Discuss Incident With D. A.

NEW YORK —(INS)— Leo Durocher, manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers, and three other witnesses of the "bean ball" accident that befell Outfielder Joe (Ducky) Medwick of the Dodgers n. Tuesday's game were invited to discuss the incident with the district attorney's office today.

District Attorney Burton A. Turkus visited Medwick at Caledonian hospital and found the $200,000 outfielder disinclined to view his "beaning" seriously. He said he had never been threatened by any member of the Cardinal team as President Larry MacPhail of the Brooklyn Dodgers had heatedly intimated.

Invitations to discuss the case at the district attorney's office were given to Pitcher Robert Bowman, who hurled the ball that struck Medwick, and several other Cardinal players.

Medwick was able to sit up last night and tuned in the Cardinal-Dodgers night game which was marked by another altercation, this time between Manager Leo (Lippy) Durocher of the Dodgers and Catcher Mickey Owen of the Cards.

Owen took offense at a remark by Durocher while the St. Louis catcher was on his way to the bench after sliding into Pete Coscarart at second base to break up a threatened double play in the third inning. The two men squared off but order was quickly restored and Owen was banished from the field.

Race Driver Loses License

Doc Parshall Out For Duration of Meet.

CANTON, O. —(AP)— The Ohio Short-ship Circuit has lost the driving prowess of H. M. (Doc) Parshall, leading reinsman and trainer of harness horses, for the duration of the Canton meeting.

The Urbana harness race king lost his driving license until June 22 for criticizing judges at the circuit's Marion's meeting last week, Presiding Judge Joseph McGraw of Washington, Pa., announced last night as the Canton program opened belatedly.

McGraw said he received notice of Parshall's suspension from Frank Wiswail of Albany, N. Y., president of the United States Trotting association.

Parshall was to have driven Peter Astra, 1939 Hambletonian winner, in a free-for-all trot tonight.

The circuit's opening here otherwise was marked by a new track record and the bettering of a world mark.

It was the 57th race won by Little Pat in 2:05 or less, bettering the 56-race record established by Ray Henley, judges said.

Indians Head For Cellar

Indianapolis Club Suffers 11 Defeats in Row.

(By Associated Press)

The Indianapolis Indians, who three weeks ago lounged in third place in the American Association race, found themselves a bare half game out of the cellar today, their string of defeats stretched to 11 in a row.

But there was one consoling factor as they faced pace setting Kansas City in their series final. No matter what happened today, the Indians could fare no worse than seventh.

That was because St. Paul and Toledo still were engaged in a series that found them swapping last place from day to day.

The Blues, defeating Indianapolis 4 to 1 while Minneapolis lost to Columbus, 2 to 1, increased their league lead to three full games. The victory lifted Columbus into third place.

Ken Jungels of Milwaukee won his own game against Louisville, getting a single with the bases loaded in the eighth for the two runs that gave the Brewers a 5 to 3 decision.

* * *

At St. Paul, the Saints handed Johnny Whitehead his second defeat in three days, 10 to 7.

TRACK, FIELD RECORDS DUE FOR BATTERING

MINNEAPOLIS — (INS) — National collegiate track and field records seem due for a terrific battering tomorrow and Saturday during the 19th N. C. A. A. meet in the University of Minnesota stadium.

A comparison of recent performances of some of the stars who will compete here with various N. C. A. A. marks indicate that perhaps as many as ten records may fall.

Women's Loop Race Enters Second Week

Four teams in The News-Journal Women's golf league will tee off at Possum Run tomorrow at 1 p. m. as the second week of loop competition gets underway. Pairings for tomorrow are: Golden Russell vs. Meders and DeMilo Salon vs Bates Candies. Eighteen holes will be played.

Mansfield Fighter to Turn Professional

By CHARLES MARTIN

MANSFIELD sports fans will probably never see Beauford Glover, crack lightweight, crawl through the ropes again as an amateur. . . . The youthful fighter has decided to turn pro and will leave shortly for a two-year Pacific coast tour. . . . Eddie Meade of Cleveland will be his manager. . . . Glover, holder of the 1940 Cleveland Golden Gloves lightweight open championship, has been one of the best attractions on a Mansfield simon pure show for several years. . . . He has won every north central Ohio title during his three-and-a-half-year career. . . . At present he is fighting out of Cleveland. . . . He recently defeated Henry Heppy, central New York champion, in a five-round setto at Waverly.

The unfavorable weather conditions have made the Mansfield Braves' Ohio State league schedule a difficult one. . . . At present rain and wet grounds have forced postponement of 14 games. . . . And the contests will have to be made up in doubleheaders.

Sports writers in the cities in the Ohio State league circuit are busy this week selecting the players who will participate in the league's All-Star contest at Lima Wednesday, July 10. . . . The classic will be held under the floodlights. . . . The roster of the team representing Fremont, Findlay and Fostoria and 20-man club picked from Lima, Mansfield and Tiffin will be announced Sunday.

It looks as though the Mansfield Braves Knot Hole gang is more than holding its own this year. . . . Knot Hole officials have announced that some 1,000 youths have registered at headquarters. . . . The youngsters may see all afternoon games and can witness the night contests providing they are accompanied by a parent or guardian.

Russell Gimbel, Friendly House director, and Mike Wentz, who has charge of the boys' athletic activities at the settlement, are doing their part to create interest in the Knot Hole gang.

The Friendly House has an eight-team Knot Hole league playing contests at the Fairground in the mornings and afternoons and Wentz is now trying to organize another league. . . . Two teams have already filed entries and Wentz is seeking additional clubs. . . . If two circuits can be set up the winners of the separate loops will meet at the end of the playing season in a championship contest. . . . The leagues will end their seasons around the last of July.

Tommy Armour thinks that Ben Hogan is "the best shotmaker in the game today." . . . Armour recently played his first game with Hogan and claims he is as good with his irons as he is with woods. . . . Hogan can hit a long ball, but the important part is his deadly accuracy. He can play almost any shot and, according to Armour, knows just where it's going.

The Firestone courses on which Ohio golfers will battle Saturday and Sunday for the championship of the 11th annual Public Links tournament will test the skill of every contestant. . . . Par three's range from an 80-yard, nine-iron chip to a 230-yard No. 3 wood. . . . One par 5 hole is 555 yards long.

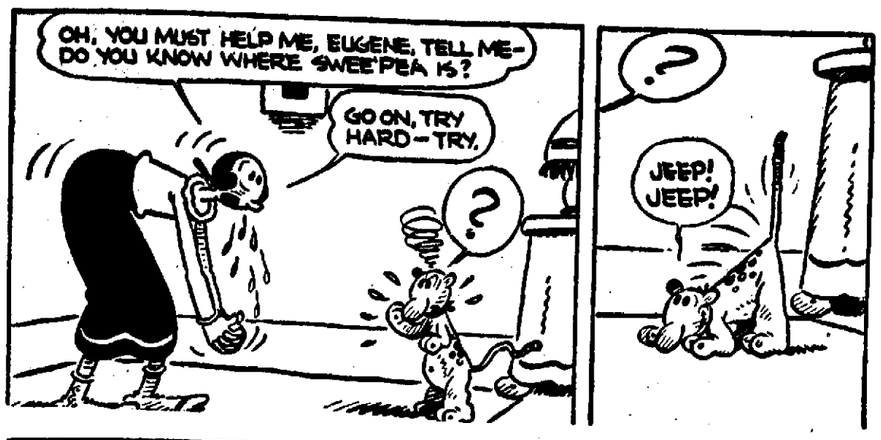
POPEYE—A Man of Few Words



OH, YOU MUST HELP ME, EUGENE, TELL ME—DO YOU KNOW WHERE SWEE'PEA IS?
GO ON, TRY HARD—TRY.
JEEP! JEEP!
HE SAID, YES!
EUGENE KNOWS WHERE SWEE'PEA IS ALL RIGHT, WHERE IS HE?
I FORGOT!—EVEN IF A JEEP DOES KNOW WHERE, HE CAN'T TELL YOU
ALL THEY CAN DO IS ANSWER "YES" OR "NO" QUESTIONS—
NOW, HOW CAN I ASK A QUESTION LIKE THAT FOR EUGENE TO ANSWER?

PAM—"Eminent Specialists!" By A. W. Brewerton

THE CONFERENCE OF PAM'S FRIENDS CONTINUES!
AS NEARLY AS I CAN UNDERSTAND IT, FROM WHAT DOCTOR BOOTH SAYS, IT'S MORE A RESULT OF BRAIN INJURY, THAN THE EYES! THE BLOW PAM RECEIVED, LEFT A SLIGHT PRESSURE SOMEWHERE—JUST A TINY SPECK—BUT ENOUGH TO CAUSE THE BLINDNESS! ANY ATTEMPT TO REMOVE IT WOULD BE FATAL!
6-20
WELL, I PERSISTED UNTIL DOCTOR BOOTH NAMED TWO VERY EMINENT SPECIALISTS—ONE OF THE BRAIN—THE OTHER THE EYE! THEY'RE IN DISTANT CITIES, BUT I HAD HIM GET IN TOUCH WITH THEM, AND MAKE IT WORTH THEIR WHILE TO COME FOR A CONSULTATION!—ONE ARRIVES BY PLANE TONIGHT—THE OTHER BY TRAIN TOMORROW!—BUT—THE DOCTOR SAYS IT'S JUST A WASTE OF MONEY. THEY'LL ONLY CONCUR WITH HIS DIAGNOSIS!
—BUT MAYBE HE IS WRONG!—GENTLEMEN, I'M A GREAT BELIEVER IN THE POWER OF PRAYER!—OFTEN, MY PRAYERS HAVE BEEN ANSWERED! I CAN'T BELIEVE IT IS THE DIVINE WILL THAT THAT BEAUTIFUL INNOCENT GIRL SHOULD BE BLIND FOR LIFE!
THE GOOD WIDOW MONROE IS A VERY DEVOUT WOMAN!
BUT, GAIL, I CAN'T SEE A BIT MORE THAN I COULD YESTERDAY!—HOW—HOW LONG BEFORE MY EYES WILL GET BETTER?
PAM, DEAR, WE MUST BE—OH—SO PATIENT!
MISS GAIL LOY IS HAVING HER TROUBLES!
HOW SOON WILL PAM SUSPECT THE TRUTH?

STOCKS SHIFT OVER UNEVEN TERRAIN TODAY

Market Traders Await Fresh Inspiration From European War Dispatches.

(By Associated Press)

NEW YORK — Stock market leaders idled in an irregular area today as traders awaited fresh inspiration from European war and peace bulletins.

The domestic business outlook still was the main buoying speculative influence, brokers said.

Bonds were uneven, with foreign issues off and corporation loans steady. Commodities were mixed. "Free" sterling again dipped.

Down fractions to a point or so most of the time were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, Douglas Aircraft, Sperry, United Aircraft, Glenn Martin, American Smelting, Standard Oil of N. J., and Texas Corp.

Making progress were Consolidated Edison, North American, American Water Works, Public Service of N. J., N. Y. Central and Westinghouse.

Steels and coppers had to contend with possibilities that French collapse might hit orders from abroad.

Questions considered in boardrooms included: the peace terms Germany has offered France; prospects for business if foreign war orders dwindle; home defense spending and higher taxes, and last, but not least, domestic politics.

Market students were encouraged by the Dun & Bradstreet summary disclosing bank clearings in 22 cities for the week ended yesterday expanded substantially following the abrupt drop of the previous week.

Senator Gibson of Vermont Dies of Heart Disease

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Sixty-nine-year-old Ernest Willard Gibson, who was enrolled in America's fighting forces in three campaigns and later represented his state of Vermont in congress for more than 18 years—the last six of them in the senate—died in the capital today.

The Vermont Republican had been rendered inactive during much of the last two years by the heart disease to which he succumbed in Washington's Doctors hospital. Pneumonia developed this week.

Gibson had rallied briefly several times during the last few days but physicians gave up hope of saving his life yesterday.

HUSBAND GETS RIDE TO JAIL

Wife Insists On Arrest When Policemen Balk.

DALLAS —(AP)— Policemen R. T. Whittle and C. W. Cole refused to arrest a drunken husband on his own premises.

The obliging wife dragged him to the sidewalk.

The officers then refused to arrest him because he had been moved to public property against his will.

LAY-OFF IN WPA TO ABSORB CUT IN RELIEF COST

Richland County Expenses to Care for Needy to Drop During June.

Relief costs in Richland county and other sections of the state are expected to decline during June, but an anticipated WPA lay-off probably will partly offset the relief cost decline, State Welfare Director Charles L. Sherwood said today.

The director said a total of $4,364 was allocated to Mansfield, Shelby, and Richland county as the state's contribution to the relief bills for May.

With garden products available and fuel and clothing costs at a low ebb, the city and county relief costs probably will drop to a low mark for the past year, it was predicted.

District WPA officials announced recently, however, that 28 workers will be dropped from the Richland county rolls this month as an economy measure, and at least a part of them are expected to need some direct relief.

Total state allocation to counties and cities was $750,000, maximum permitted under the present relief set-up, Sherwood said. That amount was 38.8 per cent of the total relief bill, $1,929,456.

State allocations to others cities and counties in this area included: Ashland county, $4,566; Crawford county, $820; Holmes county, $2,106; Morrow county, $474; Bucyrus, $1,103; Galion, $210, and Norwalk, $252.

Hardly Know I Have a Back Since 'Vendol' Eased Misery

Westinghouse Employee Says He Was Seldom Without Dull, Aching Pains, Could Hardly Stoop Over. Feels Grand Now.

MR. MARTIN VOGEL

Mr. Martin Vogel of 2 Glenn avenue, Mansfield, an oiler at Westinghouse, says, "Vendol gave such complete, easy, natural bowel action that my constipation was relieved and it made my kidneys act more freely, so now all those aching pains across my back and down through my limbs have been relieved and I really forget my back till I hardly know I have one. Used to be that I could barely stoop over because I felt so stiff and full of pains, but no more of that now. This relief Vendol gave is truly amazing and I'm feeling so much better since taking it that I want to recommend it to everyone who suffers like I used to."

Benefits from taking the famous Vendol are truly astonishing in some cases, and the best and most substantial citizens right here in our home town speak out praising it in highest terms. So, if you suffer the same way there isn't much doubt about Vendol's helping you.

Vendol is made of extracts of 12 Natural Herbal plants with mild Alkalines added. It acts as a diuretic to the kidneys and is a wonderful laxative giving relief from many troubles due to constipation. It is like taking several different medicines all wrapped up into one. Give it a chance to help you, too.

Come to Central Drug Store, corner Main and 4th Streets, and learn all the facts about Vendol without obligation. All leading druggists sell this popular medicine—Adv.

POLICE, FIRE FUND REQUESTS HEAD BUDGETS

2 Departments Ask $26,000 More Operations; Revenue Study Starts Tonight.

When city council's finance committee meets at 7:30 p. m. today to consider requests from city departments for the 1941 budget, the largest increase it will face from any one department will be that of the police and fire departments.

These two departments will ask for an increase of $26,000 of which $21,000 would be for the installation of new underground cables for telephone and telegraph. Last year they received $3,800 for this work.

The request to provide four additional firemen and six more policemen is included in the budget requests.

An increase of $7,000 on the year's relief bill will be asked, making a total for 1941 of $52,000.

Total amount to be sought for the general operating fund will be $373,000, an increase of $71,000 over this year's $302,000.

Mayor W. J. Locke pointed out that these figures are merely the estimated budgets made out by the various departments themselves and are all subject to paring at the hands of the finance committee.

The committee must compile its figures and present them to city council for approval before they go to the county budget commission. The deadline for filing the figures is July 15.

The finance committee is made up of Fred Miller, chairman, C. N. Shultz and George Berg.

Mansfield Boys on Convention Program

The three Mansfield youths decked out in parade regalia in the above photo are shown as they will appear at the 28th annual convention of the Music Merchants of Ohio to be held at Cedar Point June 23, 24 and 25. The boys, left to right, Glen Wendland, Gerald Hobart and John Bauer, are called the Three Majors and will present accordion music and a baton twirling act for the luncheon at the convention Monday June 24. The boys are eleven years old and have been playing accordions for two years. They have played at numerous club functions in Mansfield in the past.

ATTENDANCE IN SCHOOLS HIGHER

95.3 Per Cent of Enrollment Present During Last Month of Closing Term.

Attendance in Mansfield schools during the last month of the term averaged 95.3 per cent a gain of 1.3 per cent over the preceding month, reports submitted to Supt. W. L. Miller showed today.

West Fifth street school headed the list with an attendance of 97.8 per cent. The school had no cases of truancy and only 10 cases of tardiness.

Second in attendance was the Hedges school with 97.1 per cent, while the Brinkerhoff school was third with 97 per cent.

In all the schools there were 49 cases of truancy and 753 of tardiness. John Simpson junior high school contributed 23 truancy cases to the total. No other school had more than eight.

At Senior high school, 271 pupils were tardy during the month, more than three times as many as in any other school. Senior high school, however, had no truancy cases.

The reports showed there were 2,919 pupils who were neither absent nor tardy during the month as compared to 2,828 in April.

4-H CLUB MEETS

Nine members of the Merry Stitchers 4-H clothing club of Franklin township were present at a recent meeting at their home of the club adviser.

After a business meeting, the group played games. Refreshments were served. The next meeting will be June 26 at the home of Ruth Wareham.—Marie Holzworth, reporter.

24,000 BEEKEEPERS.

HARRISBURG —(NS)— Pennsylvania ranks eighth in the nation in beekeeping. There are 24,000 beekeepers with 160,000 colonies of bees, producing about 4,000,000 pounds of honey and 60,000 pounds of wax yearly.

SPLITS FUND

Auditor to Allocate $25,000 In Sales Tax Revenue.

County Auditor Norman L. Wolfe prepared today to distribute more than $25,000 in state sales tax money to the township, city, village, and county government units for operating funds.

The allocation was authorized by the auditor after the county received $8,911 from the state as its share of the May collections.

The $25,000 fund represents sales tax money distributed to the county during the past three months. The auditor said allocations to the local government units are held up until there is "enough money to make it worthwhile."

AN INDEPENDENT NEWSPAPER

MANSFIELD, OHIO, THURSDAY, JUNE 20, 1940.

The Republican national convention has crept up so quietly that it's hard to realize it's to be held next week.

Optimists proceed with picnic plans—but they don't overlook making advance arrangements for an indoor meeting place in the event of rain.

Reversion To Barbarity

EVEN sketchy intimations of peace terms which Germany and Italy are submitting to France give an idea of the ferocity of the dictators who met to formulate these terms.

They are not terms such as would be imposed under inspiration of any ideas of civilization with which we have been familiar—they are terms that reflect a vengeful barbarity with which people of the United States have had no experience, except among gangsters of the underworld.

That such vileness should become the accepted code of government in even the most benighted parts of the world would have been unbelievable—up to a few months ago.

Now it is being accepted as a part of dictator technique, and the civilized world shudders at the prospect of further extension of the power which has already crushed Europe's small independent nations and is determined to exterminate France and Great Britain.

Whatever the outcome may be, unless by some miracle Allied military strength becomes sufficient to wipe out Hitlerism and restore sanity to the administration of government in Europe, we are now in the process of a world change which will vitally affect the United States and the entire Western Hemisphere, as well as destroying the fruits of centuries of progress in Europe.

Under present conditions, and with realization of the likelihood that war is being brought very close to our own doorstep, it seems reasonable to urge upon all Americans the importance of co-operating, in every possible way, with the responsible heads of government in whatever preparations are deemed advisable to adequately defend this country against any aggression by internal or external enemies of democracy.

New Postoffice for Mansfield

GROWTH in volume of Mansfield's postal business in the twenty-five years since the present federal building, corner West Fourth and Mulberry streets, has been in use, seems to justify the postoffice department's decision to erect a new building here, instead of proceeding with earlier plans to remodel and enlarge the old structure.

Requirements for space by various federal departments, not contemplated when the present building was erected, also argue in favor of a new building designed to meet immediate and future needs, rather than an attempt to adapt the old one to modern demands.

With additional space already acquired to the east of the original government property, there will be ample room on this site for the fine new federal building that is now promised and which Mansfield's prospects for further growth warrants.

Learn About State Government

THIS is the week that 770 Ohio boys, including 16 from Mansfield and Richland county, are spending at the Buckeye Boys State, in Columbus.

Lest some folks get the idea that this is merely a "lark," or a vacation trip, all should understand the serious purposes of Boys State, as conducted each year under sponsorship of the Ohio department of the American Legion.

Boys chosen for this experience are members of junior classes in Ohio high schools and their program for the ten days spent at Boys State includes setting up and operating a state government, with boys serving as officials, heads of departments and in various capacities in which they are interested.

Selection is made from juniors in high schools, so that the boys will have opportunity, during their senior year, to impart to other students some of the things they learned at Boys State, thus spreading the benefits of the training in citizenship which they receive.

State officials speak at nightly meetings of Boys State and this year's counsellors are 32 students from Ohio State university, the University of Cincinnati, and Western Reserve university.

Suggestion: Parent-Teacher organizations and other club groups will find it interesting to have several of these boys provide a program in which they relate their experiences at Boys State.

Uncongenial Comrades

AN AMERICAN newspaper man who has traveled much in Europe finds himself wondering how some of these current national alliances, with their ideological loves and hates, are working out.

The Germans and Italians, for example, normally agree only in disliking each other.

He was traveling in the Sudetenland less than two years ago with a German who had been an officer in the last World war, and who served on both the Russian and Italian fronts. The Germans, said the officer, didn't like to kill Russians because "they were innocent and harmless, like rabbits." But the Italians were different. "No German minded killing Italians."

The writer naturally wonders how that German officer and his comrades feel now about co-operation with their Italian allies. Also what the Italians think of marching and fighting alongside of a race that killed so many of them, with such zest, in the last war.

More Car Improvements

THE LOW, rakish type of automobile that sounds so good in fiction and looks so snappy in front of the country club, isn't really the last word in automotive designing. Addressing a meeting of the Society of Automotive Engineers, an authority in this field urged a change in design which would provide better vision, greater road clearance, better ventilation by the pressure method to assure freedom from carbon monoxide, faster steering, and more adjustable seats.

These changes were recommended, he said, on the basis of road tests of many types of cars and on co-operative work with enforcement and safety organizations in New England.

It was recognized that some of the features urged were characteristic of cars a dozen years ago. What the designer wants is not complete return to the past but the "incorporation of the good features of the past designs with the good features now enjoyed in the most modern cars."

Man About Manhattan

—By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—People are beginning to walk up to Skinnay Ennis and inquire about his health. The other night a man and a girl, after getting his autograph, asked him if it were really true that he had only one lung. Skinnay laughed. "Everywhere I go," he said, "people expect me to fall over in a faint."

The reason is this: for 80 weeks now Bob Hope, who refers fondly and humorously to Skinnay as "Old One Lung," has built his broadcasts around Skinnay's alleged declining health. Most of his jokes, to which Skinnay is a willing stooge, are based on thinning corpuscles and declining stability. A sample gag has Skinnay calling the "donors" ward of a hospital. Asking frantically for the superintendent, he cries, "Remember that blood I sent over this morning? Send it right back, I'm going out tonight."

Another prime Bob Hope gag goes like this: "Skinnay stepped off a train near a golf course the other day and after three deep breaths of fresh air his left lung turned to the right one and said, 'This is the stuff I've been telling you about.' "

So now this tall, blonde orchestra leader out of Salisbury, N. C., is approached wherever he goes by people who expect him to fall over dead at the slightest exertion. Actually, he is husky. His real name is Edgar, "which is one reason why Skinnay is a better name for me," he suggests. "It used to be Skinney, but one day it came out on a phonograph record misspelled Skinnay, and it looked so good we decided to adopt it."

PUBLIC dancing on the green always has been a favorite diversion of Manhattan's millions, and this season is no exception. Almost five thousand young and old couples respond to the invitation to dance gratis on the green lawns of Central Park every night. The music is a WPA orchestra, which has given rise to the couplet, "Swing and sway with WPA." The jitterburgs are supposed to be at least 17 years of age, but hundreds of kids no older than 14 have been sharing the festivities with their older brethren. The 17-year-old limit is to keep minors at home after dark, where, says the city, they belong.

ANOTHER outdoor diversion which Walter Huston and Raymond Massey, in particular, and the public, in general, have taken up this summer is bowling. The outdoor alleys at the Fair are a surprise hit. They are similar to the indoor alleys, except that they are composed of material which does not curl or warp in the sun or the rain. Massey, a star bowler, has private alleys in his home. Huston isn't a star bowler—he's just enthusiastic.

The owner of these alleys is a man who has become quite famous throughout the Long Island and the Westchester sectors as the brains behind "Swanky Frank." "Swanky Frank" is the name applied to scores of wayside hotdog stands where frankfurters are purveyed with buns and mustard for the traditional dime.

Looking Back

TWENTY YEARS AGO TODAY

Sunday, June 20, 1920.

Charles Heuss, 44 Glessner avenue, was suffering from injuries sustained by fall from scaffold on which he was working.

First anniversary of Shelby council Knights of Columbus was observed.

Louis A. Andregg was chosen as pilot for Aero club of Mansfield, to succeed R. B. Gardner, who resigned because of pressure of other work.

Charles Reeves, Howard Lake and H. L. Bitz took positions as reformatory guards.

FIVE YEARS AGO TODAY

Thursday, June 20, 1935.

Carl F. Sattler was elected commander of the Ohio Department, Sons of Union Veterans, at the encampment at Columbus.

Three hundred Richland, Crawford, Marion and Morrow county farmers attended a district meeting of the Ohio Farm Bureau at the United Brethren church.

Summer arrived in a new low with the temperature reading at 57 degrees.

Miss Margaret Bruce and William Daisley were married at Central Methodist church.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Hecht, 31 Penn avenue, returned from an eight-months trip in the southwestern part of the country.

QUITTING TIME

Willkie Worries New Dealers

—By CARTER FIELD

WASHINGTON — Wendell L. Willkie has certainly captured the imagination of the Washington political reporters. He won the hard-boiled and cynical news writers, first in an off the record talk to the National Press Club luncheon, a few days ago, and then in a crowded press conference in which he discussed, with utter frankness, his ancestry, his criticisms of the New Deal, and his hopes for the peace conference to end the present war.

Various other developments, showing how the "second choice" strength is swinging to him, plus his shooting up to second place on the Gallup poll, result in an attitude toward his candidacy in Washington which, had it been stated six months ago, would, as he put it himself, have been "too raw to be funny."

Incidentally New Dealers are distinctly worried about his candidacy. They do not admit that he is a "dangerous" opponent, of course. That would be asking too much. But they don't like the idea of his "swapping punches" with President Roosevelt. They think Roosevelt would win out, but they fear that the New Deal would be very badly hurt in the process.

THERE was a long period of time, in fact until very recently, when Thomas E. Dewey was the most objectionable of the Republican possibilities for the nomination. This was based on several things. Among others, President Roosevelt entertains a personal dislike for the New York district attorney. He has expressed this dislike in many conversations, his favorite reference to Dewey being, it is reported by callers, "that little two-spot."

Long after the president had shown this dislike, however, Dewey began his campaign, and in his opening speech, that at Minneapolis, he charged the New Deal with working on a philosophy of "defeatism." By this he meant that the New Deal social idea was that all progress had been completed, that there were no new frontiers, either geographically or in industry, to take up the slack in employment. Therefore, Dewey charged, the New Deal was working out a system of economic restraints aimed at preventing new developments, on the theory that investors should not be allowed to risk their money because everything necessary was already here.

It is impossible to exaggerate how much this attack hurt. Within a few days, President Roosevelt used the word "defeatism" in two separate paragraphs in a message to congress. It was the first time since Roosevelt was elected governor of New York in 1928, although his gubernatorial reelection campaign and two presidential campaigns have intervened, that F. D. R. bothered so much to meet the criticism of a political opponent.

BUT the danger spot, as far as attacks are concerned, has shifted. It is no longer a Dewey speech that the administration crowd awaits with the most apprehension. It is a Willkie speech.

Incidentally the worst news to the New Dealers in the Wilkie Washington press conference was that, no matter whom the Republicans nominated, Willkie would be campaigning for that nominee. It was a promise of a lot more Willkie speeches, every one of which, the New Dealers fear, will hurt.

Listen, World!

The Flame Still Burns!

—By ELSIE ROBINSON

THE GERMANS have taken Paris. (Or have they?)

As I write, their vast machines thunder along its empty boulevards, their eyes stare at the shuttered shops and homes. Stare proudly, then with growing bafflement. For there is something in this silent place which they, the conquering Germans, cannot understand; some quality the blue prints did not show, some force they cannot gauge upon a gun.

Here is a city which they saw as boys, played in as men. Surely it is familiar. Here are the same, worn flags they trod so eagerly. And here the friendly tables in the open where once they sat to laugh and sip their glass of wine. The window-boxes, bright with early flowers, the small, pert hat shops and the shadowed courts—yes, surely this must be the Paris which they knew!

Then what is this around them which they cannot place . . . which mocks them . . . makes them feel like strangers even as they pace remembered roads?

Now, the conquerors have no liking to be mocked. There's no room for uncertainty within their careful plans . . . no place for doubt within their sure and haughty souls. Why should they doubt when all has been thought out . . . when, step by step, each movement was foreseen . . . and all has happened as the Fuehrer said?

Or has it?

They stare again. A vague uneasiness begins to stir. And yet, how dares one doubt the mighty Leader's word? An order's snarled. The thudding feet stand still. The silence spreads its tide down the streets. No bird calls out. No child runs babbling. The chestnut leaves hang limp in the hot sun. The shuttered houses seem to watch and wait, holding some secret in their darkened hearts. Far off, the Arc de Triomphe lifts its stately pile. But no one laughs or chats or saunters happily. Only, beneath the arch, a small, bright flame burns on—and one still figure stands beside that deathless flame.

The "Unknown Soldier" still remains—on guard.

A nameless warrior still remains to "keep the faith"!

Yet, what's a scrap of bronze when one has conquered France? And what's one, small bright flame against a prostrate land? Why should such trifles mock this mighty mass of men?

Because within that flame there burns the soul of France! And while that Soldier stands, each Frenchman still goes free! For there are yet some things one cannot kill with steel . . . nor crush with tanks . . . nor coop within a concentration camp. Some things which Germany, with all its strength and skill, still cannot grasp, despite its monstrous will.

THE FLAME STILL BURNS. THAT FLAME WHICH FIRST MADE FRANCE — THAT LUST FOR LIBERTY WHICH IS THE SOUL OF FRANCE.

AND WHILE THAT FLAME STILL BURNS, NO POWER ON EARTH TAKES FRANCE!

(Copyright, 1940.)

Modern Miracle.

Reports from Bear Mountain Park in New York that for the first time in 27 years the thousands who visited the beauty spot on opening day did not leave behind a little debris and luncheon remnants encourage belief that perhaps Mr. and Mrs. Motoring America have turned over a new leaf.

It is a noteworthy fact that many quiet country spots, ideal for a picnic or day's outing, have been closed to trespassers because of the thoughtless, careless habit of so many people who, after enjoying their day, not only leave behind a litter that is unsightly, but actually do property damage to fences, trees and shrubs.

One of the lessons that ought to go hand in hand with motoring and vacationing is the one which says "leave the premises as clean as you found them." If all would unite in obeying this injunction, more farmers would permit picnics on their property and the countryside as a whole would be cleaner, prettier and more enjoyable.—Ohio State Journal.

How It Started

—By JEAN NEWTON

"Ambulance."

Words, like actions are shaped by situations. Consider, for example, the interesting instance of "ambulance."

Primarily, the word "ambulance" is rooted in the Latin "ambulare" meaning "to walk: to move." At first thought, therefore, the connection between its root meaning and its present sense of a conveyance for the ill is mystifying. Here, however, is where circumstances clear up cases.

As everybody knows, one of the requisites of war is to have a field hospital follow the army. This the French called "Hospital Ambulant," or "walking hospital." Gradually, "hospital ambulant" became "ambulance." The meaning "moving hospital" was lost and the word took on its modern sense as a vehicle to transport sick people to a hospital.

Everyday Poem

Stand Straight.

Stand straight. It seems a simple thing
To do but there is more
To it than just at first appears
More than health's vital score.

For one thing, standing straight lifts up
The spirit, just the act
Of straightening up gives many a man
The courage that he lacked.

In some hard moment when tears flow
And shoulders would bend, too,
Try straightening up and many a time
You'll find this helps you through.

TODAY IN HISTORY

Today is the anniversary of the conferring in 1632 of a patent giving Maryland to Lord Calvert, third Lord Baltimore. From the beginning the colony prospered, assuming a leading place among the New World settlements.

WASHINGTON Merry-Go-Round

By DREW PEARSON and ROBERT S. ALLEN

WASHINGTON—The White House is not advertising it, but the disposition of the French fleet was one vital point which came up in secret discussion with the French just before their capitulation.

Roosevelt wanted to make sure that the French navy would not fall into Nazi hands. For France's warships could just about tip the balance of naval power and give the Nazis a powerful striking arm in the South Atlantic against Latin America.

The French have two brand-new 26,000-ton battleships, the Strasbourg and the Dunkerque, probably the fastest in the world; also two new 35,000-ton battleships, the Richlieu and the Jean Bart, the latter not quite completed. These, added to the German fleet, would give Hitler ten battleships against fifteen for the United States, all much older and slower.

When you consider that twelve U. S. battleships are kept in the Pacific, with only three in the Atlantic, you get a rough idea of how difficult it would be for this country to defend the Monroe Doctrine if Hitler got the French fleet. Another thing he might get which would add to our Monroe Doctrine problem is the French naval base at Dakar, on the bulge of Africa jutting out toward Brazil.

All of this is one of the important reasons why Roosevelt has been moving every possible war supply to the Allies. The French gave private assurance that in return for American aid they would do everything in their power to make sure that their ships did not fall into German hands but would take refuge in African and American waters.

Note:—In addition to the fifteen old battleships, the United States recently has launched two new war monsters, but it will take several months to complete them.

Pinchot Plank.

AS if the Republicans didn't have enough trouble writing a platform, ex-Governor Gifford Pinchot of Pennsylvania wants to add to their headaches.

In a personal letter to every one of the 1,000 convention delegates, he seriously proposes that the famous Ballinger case be fought all over again by writing into the platform a sizzling anti-Ickes plank.

The Pinchot proposal goes back to a Washington Merry-Go-Round disclosure that Ickes had unearthed evidence exonerating Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior in the Taft administration, from corruption in handling Alaskan coal lands. Ickes followed the Merry-Go-Round story with an article in The Saturday Evening Post in which he not only defended Ballinger, but indirectly also William Howard Taft.

The Ballinger-Pinchot feud, one of the most famous in the political history of the country, started the break between Taft and Teddy Roosevelt, and led to Taft's defeat by Woodrow Wilson.

Pinchot's Letter.

TODAY, the embers of the old feud have been fanned into flame again. Gifford Pinchot, chief forester under Teddy Roosevelt, is waging a bitter war against Ickes' proposal to transfer the forest service from the agriculture department to interior. Resentful over the Saturday Evening Post article, he also demands that the GOP convention devote a plank to the denunciation of Ickes, who defended a Republican.

He makes this demand despite the fact that Senator Bob Taft will be a power at that convention. And Bob Taft is the son of the president whom Pinchot helped to wreck, and whom Ickes defended.

It all sounds cock-eyed, but anyway here is part of the two-page letter Pinchot has sent to Republican delegates:

"Why not put a plank in the Republican platform pledging the party to keep the forest service untouched in the department of agriculture? It would not please Ickes. . . . Such a pledge would be all gain and no loss. It would attract much strength and drive none away. . . . Ickes is trying to tear down the work of the Republican party under Theodore Roosevelt. . . . The only shadow of excuse for the proposed transfer is Ickes' lust for power, which is notorious."

Ickes' Reply.

WHEN Secretary Ickes received a copy of this letter from a Republican friend, he sat down and wrote to Pinchot as follows:

"Dear Giff: I think your plank idea excellent and I suggest it read like this; 'We denounce the effort recently made by a certain power-lusting New Dealer to clear the name of the late Richard A. Ballinger, secretary of the interior in the Taft administration.

"And we denounce as unjustifiable and hurtful to the national interests the fact that no public office is adorned by Gifford Pinchot, who, as time goes on, stands out ever more brilliantly as one of the most illustrious, if self-effacing, patriots that the country has ever produced.

"We denounce in unsparing terms the unholy conspiracy between the late Secretary Ballinger, the late Attorney General Wickersham, and the late President Taft, that resulted in the discharge from Federal Service of Gifford Pinchot for insubordination, thus causing irreparable injury to the country and the Republican Party. . . .' "

Note:—Strange as it seems, Ickes and Pinchot once fought side-by-side as ardent Bull Mooses to elect Teddy Roosevelt.

U. S. Chamberlains.

DOWN in Wall Street you already hear brokers suggesting that with Hitler ruling the world it might be wise for the United States to begin warming up to him.

In fact, some Wall Streeters suggest that the best way to do this is to defeat Roosevelt as an evidence of friendship to Hitler, which would cause him to deal more leniently with the United States.

Even in the state department, which of course never did agree with Mr. Roosevelt's social ideas, there are a few men, though a minority, who are beginning to say that it is now time to be friendly to Hitler.

Note: — This attitude brought the following remark from a White House adviser: "Yes, the leniency we get from Hitler will be about the same as he gave Chamberlain."

Merry-Go-Round.

BESIDES having a father who was president and a grandfather who was secretary of war in the Grant cabinet, Senator Bob Taft also had a grandfather who was minister to Austria and ambassador to Russia when Czar Alexander II was assassinated. . . . The desk used by Assistant Secretary of War Louis Johnson is a huge, carved table of Honduran mahogany that has been in the war department for more than 100 years.

The Parson's Hoe

(A FARMER'S DIARY)

—By CALVIN A. BYERS

I TALKED to a successful young country preacher. "One of the best tools a dominie can have is a garden hoe—provided he is willing to use it," he said. And he added, "I believe these folks who move out from the city to live, ought to get interested in the little country churches all around them."

"How can a minister profit from his hoe?" I asked.

"I'm not a country-bred person," he declared. "I have always lived in towns of several thousand. When my first pastorate took me to 'the sticks' I did not expect to like it. I thought it would be a good place to practice, though, until I could get a promotion. Now I've changed my mind. I'm looking for the best way I can find to do bigger rural service.

"It began when I put out a garden. I didn't know a thing about gardening, but all my neighbors did, and I learned from them. At first I was a community joke, then they got interested. They were swell to me. When a farmer gives you some of his best melon seeds he'll watch how you grow them. If you're not sincere in your gardening — or your ministry — he'll find you out. When he knows you mean business, he'll come over and hoe a row along with you. Then you can talk to him about anything under the sun.

"Farmers hate laziness. They'll go half way to meet a fellow who's in earnest about what he believes, whether it's religion or cabbages. A man's cabbage patch is more of an index of his religion than some folks know—am I right?"

I agreed. The man interested me. "How do you find the young folks?" I asked him.

"Splendid! There's real leadership among these 4-H'ers and sons of the Grange. The worst trouble I have is to get the older folks to let the youngsters try. I tell them the time to break a colt is before he's too old to learn. You daren't tie him in with the old team too long or he loses the knack of going ahead by himself. Occasionally I invite the parents to stay at home or to attend a service in which they take no part. We have an orchestra now, a choir and a dramatic club among the young people. And if the leaders find me in the garden when they come, we hoe and talk."

As I left I met a group of boys with bathing trunks, headed for the swimmin' hole. The parson went into the house and got his own.

Then they all went across the field together.

Nevertheless, under dwindling French resistance, Hitler's armies swept farther down into France, the high command announced.

Brest, French Atlantic port below Cherbourg, where the American expeditionary force landed tens of thousands of men in 1917-18, fell to the Nazi columns, the official communique said.

Other German troops racing down toward Bordeaux crossed the lower Loire river—France's intended new line of defense if the fight goes on—between Nantes and Tour.

German warplanes raided the refugee-swollen temporary capital of Bordeaux four times during the night, killing or wounding 60 persons.

Royal Air Force planes struck at objectives in Germany and behind Nazi lines in France.

There were seemingly conflicting accounts of French activity.

Masses of French planes were reported in flight to North Africa. Some of them were forced down at Spanish ports and islands before reaching their destination.

Reports reaching Switzerland, however, stated French planes and troops from North Africa had crossed the Mediterranean under naval convoy to help check the German drive in southeastern France.

The French said their troops had delivered a "new battle" on the middle Loire river before withdrawing to "a more favorable line."

French armies from the Maginot line were reported retreating southward in Lorraine before the advancing German columns.

The German iron cavalry which occupied Lyon was in position to flank the French Alpine army and join hands with Italians around Switzerland.

In Germany, the watchword was "England is next." The Berlin press sounded warnings to Britain in comments on British air attacks on western Germany.

Voelkischer Beobachter, Hitler's newspaper, in discussing British plans for local defense volunteers, declared "a sniper war" apparently was being organized, and that Germany uses "brutal hardness" in dealing with "snipers."

Italian Fliers Widen Area Of Mediterranean Raids

(By Associated Press)

ROME—Italy's air power was flung today into operations over a vast zone in the Mediterranean and far down the eastern coast of Africa as Stefani, official Italian news agency, declared that by Saturday at the latest, there will be no more fighting between the Axis powers and battered France.

French plenipotentiaries already have met the Germans, said Stefani, and are en route back to Bordeaux, presumably with harsh Nazi terms for peace in their hands.

The Italian high command declared its widespread air raids had caused great damage at many points and had destroyed British tanks in a fight on the frontier between Egypt and Libya.

Italians, said the command, bombed such points as the French Mediterranean possession, Corsica, and the previously attacked French naval base at Bizerte in Tunisia.

Acknowledging that her home territory had been bombed on the Ligurian coast and in Sardinia, the Italians reported they had bombed British bases at Aden, Zeila, across the Gulf of Aden in British Somaliland, Port Sudan, on the African coast of the Red sea and other points in Audan and Kenya.

In the sea war, said the Italians, a 2,500-ton French destroyer was sunk by an Italian submarine.

Germans Continue Drive, Claim Port of Brest Taken

BERLIN—(UP)—The great French port of Brest, where thousands of American troops landed during the World war, has been taken by German forces, the high command announced today.

In a communique issued from Adolf Hitler's field headquarters the high command said also that in Normandy, German troops reached the lower course of the river Loire and that the stream had been crossed at several points from Nantes to Tours.

Yesterday alone, the high command claimed, more than 200,000 prisoners were taken by the Germans, including Gen. Marie Robert Altmeyer, commander of the French 10th army.

Announcing that the German air force had begun reprisals against Britain, presumably for continued Royal Air Force raids on northern and western Germany, the high command said that German bombers successfully attacked the British nitrogen works at Billingham last night.

It claimed that the Allies lost 21 airplanes yesterday and it was admitted that the Germans had lost six planes.

The high command said that in operations in the English channel German speedboats had destroyed a steamer of 4,000 tons. It was claimed that an 8,000-ton vessel had been sunk by a German submarine and that another U-boat had torpedoed three vessels which were steaming in convoy.

The command said that the air force continued to blast retreating French columns, particularly south of the Loire river.

It reiterated earlier claims that Luneville, Epinal and Toul were in German hands and that in northern Lorraine between Epinal and Toul and in the upper Vosges French forces which had not already been captured were being "remorselessly crushed together."

New breaks were reported in the Maginot line west of Wissembourg, but it was admitted that heavy fighting continued in the Maginot line on both sides of Diedenhofen, where the Germans have been attacking since early this week.

The communique said that German troops were advancing from Belfort and had completed a junction with other German forces in the Burgundian gap.

France Accedes to Japanese Demands on Indo-China

(By Associated Press)

TOKYO—France had acceded entirely to Japan's demands for the halting of transportation of war supplies through French Indo-China to China and has agreed to permit Japanese inspectors to enter Indo-China to make sure that the traffic ends, the foreign office announced today.

French Ambassador Charles Arsene-Henry told Vice Foreign Minister Masayuki Tani that for many months nothing but trucks of petroleum had been passing into China by way of Indo-China and since June 17 these also had been banned.

France's acceptance of Japan's demands was announced after the Tokyo press had adopted a sharper tone in the French Indo-China situation. The newspaper Asahi raised the question of Japanese control of "important points."

RELEASED: U. S. Resumes Shipments of Tools to Russia

(By United Press)

WASHINGTON—The United States began releasing machine tools, dies, and machinery to Soviet Russia today.

(Russia has just completed the military occupation of Latvia, Estonia, and Lithuania, which separate Russia from Germany on the Baltic.

(It was revealed in London yesterday, that Great Britain was seeking to buy guns, tanks, and war equipment from Russia.)

It was learned that the United States woud permit the shipment of tools, dies and machinery which are not considered essential to the American defense program.

Equipment to be retained, it was learned, includes complicated machinery such as required to build battleships, which was ordered during the last two years for the Soviet navy.

Last week Soviet Ambassador Constantine Oumansky spent an hour with Secretary of State Cordell Hull, and was reported to have protested vigorously against an alleged discriminatory prohibition of exports to Russia. The meeting followed retention on the west coast of supplies Russia had ordered.

Yesterday about two-thirds of a cargo of war materials belonging to Amtorg, the Soviet trading agency, was released in Tacoma, Wash.

ELECT OFFICERS

Symposiarchs Name John W. Graham as New President.

John W. Graham, general manager of the News-Journal, was elected president of the Mansfield Symposiarchs last night at a meeting held at the Wonder Bar dining room.

E. K. Bacon was elected vice president and Attorney Earl P. Gaar was re-elected secretary and treasurer.

Pierce Wright, Columbus, national secretary of the Symposiarchs—which is a national organization of college fraternity men—addressed members of the group. Plans for the ensuing year were discussed.

northwestern Germany generally.

According to the air ministry, three German planes were shot down during the raid on Britain and one British plane was lost in the raids on Germany.

Two communiques, the first issued jointly by the air ministry and the home security ministry, the second by the air ministry alone, told the balance of the story.

"During last night enemy aircraft carried out further attacks on this country. A number of bombs were dropped on the northwest coast. Damage was done in three towns but fires which were caused were all brought under control. Other bombs fell at scattered points in Lincolnshire, South England and South Wales. Six civilians are known to have been killed and some 60 injured, anti-air defense went into action and fighter aircraft went up. At least three enemy aircraft were shot down and others were damaged."

"Yesterday afternoon and evening successful attacks were carried out by bombers of the Royal Air Force on enemy aircraft on the ground at Airdromes near Amiens and Rouen. Hangars were also set on fire. Throughout last night military objectives and communications in the Ruhr, the Rhineland and northwest Germany were heavily bombed. In these operations one of our aircraft was lost."

WOMAN ROBBED

2 Men Riding In Auto, Stop Her and Steal Purse.

Police today searched for two men who robbed a woman of her purse containing $8 on North Mulberry street last night.

Mrs. T. H. Swank, 203 Harker street, said the pair driving a "big black sedan" stopped their car beside her just north of the Erie railroad.

The driver, she told the officers, jumped out and demanded her purse. She said he held his hand in his pocket, warning that he had a gun.

Mrs. Swank said she observed the car twice before, once north of West Sixth street where the machine pulled to the curb and one of the men got out and lifted the hood.

As she crossed the railroad the car approached from the north and pulled to the left side of the street beside her, she reported.

Man Who Saved Grant's Life In Civil War Reported Among School Alumni.

TROY, N. Y.—(U.P.)—The president of Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute has directed an investigation to determine, if possible, why the name of Ely Samuel Parker, an Indian who saved Gen. Ulysses S. Grant's life in the Civil war, does not appear on the records of the institute, where Parker was a student.

Dr. William Otis Hotchkiss took occasion to assert on the 118th anniversary of the birth of Grant, that biographical references to Parker agree that he studied engineering at the upstate institution.

"But we cannot find his Indian name, Do-ne-ho-ga-wa, or his adopted name, Parker, among our early lists of students," Dr. Hotchkiss said.

Refused by State Bar.

"In view of the fact that he was refused admission to the New York State bar because he was an Indian and because Secretary of War Seward and the governor of New York refused to commission him in the Civil war for the same reason, the question arises, did the institute leave the name off its records for that reason also?"

If the institute never publicly acknowledged him as a student here, "it is high time we do so now," the educator said.

Parker's father was a Tonawanda Seneca chief and a veteran of the War of 1812.

Of Parker's relation with Grant, Dr. Hotchkiss said:

"Parker came to know Grant while he was engaged in engineering at Galena, Ill., where Grant was a clerk in a harness store. He joined the Union army, and Grant later made him a lieutenant colonel and his military secretary. He is said to have saved Grant's life twice during the war.

Wrote Grant's Orders.

"At Appomattox, the senior adjutant general, Colonel Bowers, was so nervous he could not write the terms of General Lee's surrender. At Grant's orders, the tall, swarthy Indian wrote them with a steady hand."

Later, as president, Grant named Parker commissioner of Indian affairs, and also gave him the rank of brigadier general.

"He was a great American," Dr. Hotchkiss said. "His services both to the government and to the Indians, whose rights he protected, were distinguished."

Parker was a police commissioner of New York City. A bust of Parker was recently presented to the city of Rochester by New York City. The bust will be in the keeping of Arthur C. Parker, grand nephew of the former Indian sachem and now curator of the Rochester Museum.

'Hospital' Treats Mansfield's Ailing Books

There Are Countless Casualties at City's Public Library.

By MARIANNE SPRINGER

Books, just like humans, contract sickness and there has to be a place where they can be sent for "operations" and "treatment."

There at 61,214 books in Mansfield Public library so that institution conducts its own "hospital."

As Miss Lois MacKeller, librarian, will tell you, books lining the shelves are subject to countless casualties and if it wasn't for the "hospital," the library would be put to a heavy additional expense in supplying books to the reading public.

Books have both "common" and "incurable ailments," Miss MacKeller said, adding that "dog-eared" pages, and mischievous puppies and children account for most of the "fatalities" in the book family.

"Common diseases" are treated at the "hospital" in the basement of the library. Scribbles are rubbed off with soft gum erasers, broken backs are replaced by new ones of recasing leather (a heavy fabric), while torn pages are mended with onion skin and paste. When volumes need rebinding, they are sent to a bindery "clinic" in Cleveland for "recovery."

"Dog-ears" (resulting from the reader's habit of marking his place by turning down the corner of the page) is a lingering illness, Miss MacKeller said. Once contracted, this "disease" is with the book for life, as there is absolutely no remedy for it.

Fatalities among books result from being soaked by water, torn by children or chewed by puppies. Although covers of all books are shellacked, in order to afford them a degree of protection from rain and snow, once they've been left out in bad weather, dropped in a puddle or bathtub, their days of service are over as the pages warp and ripple and frequently stick together.

Margaret Hammond . . . she's doctoring books at library.

Puppies Forgiven.

Borrowers are requested to pay for books torn by children or puppies, and oddly enough, they're much more willing to pay for the puppy's destruction than they are the children's!

If you're interested in knowing the number of books at the library in various fields, Miss MacKeller gives these figures: useful arts, 6,074; fine arts and recreation, 5,201; literature, 4,802; biography, 4,735; social science, 4,099; travel, 3,395; history, 2,524; science, 1,883; phychology and philosophy, 1,754; religion, 1,338; books and reading, 235, and language, 231.

The number of fiction books at the library is equivalent to the total of the above mentioned books.

The books have their own "leading citizens" just as we do—that is, if this leadership can be based on popularity. John Steinbeck's "Grapes of Wrath" has broken all records for circulation at the library in the past two years. Even though the library has nine copies of this volume, the reserve list numbers 100, while the usual book's reserve never has numbered more than 30 names.

"Gone With the Wind" by Margaret Mitchell was on reserve longer than any other book—for more than two years, but the nine copies never had 100 persons on the waiting list.

She added further, that Louis Bromfield's "The Rains Came" and "The Farm" enjoyed a wide circulation here, both being on reserve for more than a year.

According to Miss MacKeller, readers change their choice of books quite frequently, and now the trend is away from fiction toward non-fiction, with biographies, newspaper adventure stories and discussions of the European war situation leading in popularity.

"It is interesting to note," she continued, "that the three copies of Hitler's "Mein Kampf" have been taken out 53 times within the past year, which is quite a record for a two-weeks book."

children (soldiers), too few Allies. There is the cause of our defeat.

"The French people will not deny the blow. All peoples have ups and downs. We will learn a lesson from the battle which has been lost.

"Since the victory (World war) the spirit of pleasure has prevailed over the spirit of sacrifice. The people have demanded more than they have given. They wanted to spare themselves effort. Today, misfortune has come.

"I was with you in the glorious days. As head of the government, I will remain with you in the dark days. Stand by me.

"The fight still goes on. It is for France, and the soil of her sons."

U. S. PASSENGERS REPORTED SAFE

WASHINGTON —(INS)— Nine Americans who were passengers on the S. S. Niagara of the Canadian-Australian line, sunk by an explosion near New Zealand yesday, have been safely landed at Auckland, the American consulate general at Wellington reported today.

After a check of its passport files against the names reported by the consulate general, the department said that those saved were believed to include Clarence Reeves, Columbus, O.

PLANTS TREES

Maple Sugar Farm Helps Education Plans.

BURLINGTON, Vt. —(INS)— From a few handfuls of maple seedlings a boy's college expenses may grow.

Robert L. Bickford, University of Vermont freshman, planted seeds for a thousand maple trees a high school vocational agriculture project. In a few years it may be the source of enough maple syrup and sugar to pay his college expenses.

While in high school Bickford was chosen as one-half of a two-man poultry judging team to represent Vermont at the Eastern States Exposition in Springfield, Mass. They topped eight teams in the New England competition winning the right to represent Vermont at the National Convention of the Future Farmers of America in Kansas City, Mo. Here in a field drawn from all sections of the country, his team placed fourth in a total of 100 contests.

GOOD AS EVER

Railroad Man's Finger Once Was 34 Miles Away.

BROWNSVILLE, Tex.— (INS.) —When Jack Hollingsworth looks at the little finger of his left hand, it's hard for him to believe that they were once 34 miles apart.

Hollingsworth, a railway brakeman, got his hand caught in the coupling of two cars and was rushed to the hospital at Harlingen for treatment, his finger missing.

His brother Willard come to the scene of the accident a short time later and found Jack's glove, with the finger in it. He rushed to Harlingen, found his brother had been taken to Brownsville, and went on there.

A surgeon sewed the missing digit back in place. Today Hollingsworth has almost as much use of it as he had before the accident.

HITCH-HIKE TO STUDY YUCATAN

PHILADELPHIA—(U.P.)— Robert Gerbig, 20-year-old University of Pennsylvania student, has hitchhiked to Yucatan to study the Mayan Indians.

Gerbig, who alone on the journey, plans to live among the Mayans in an effort to uncover some of the secrets of their civilization.

Gerbig's trip to Yucatan was revealed by his mother who said her son "thought a year there would do him more good than a year in school."

KNIGHTS TO GO TO CLEVELAND

Mansfield to Send Delegation to Grand Encampment to Be Held July 15.

A number of Knights of Mansfield Commandery No. 21, Knights Templar, are expected to attend the 41st triennial conclave of the Grand Encampment of Knights Templar, next month in Cleveland.

The conclave opens July 13 and continues through July 19, and is expected to draw from 25,000 to 35,000 Knights from throughout the United States.

A feature of the six-day meeting will be a grand parade scheduled for the morning of July 16. It is expected to last four hours. Getting underway at 10 a. m., the line of march will proceed to the Cleveland stadium where the reviewing stand will be located.

The Cleveland conclave, according to present indications, will far surpass any of recent years. The Grand Commandery of Ohio of which Lloyd E. Roulet of Toledo, is eminent grand commander, will act as official host.

Says Frightened Speakers Deliver Better Speeches

WACO, Tex.—(INS)—Do your knees knock together when you get up to make a speech?

Don't worry about it, says Dr. Iva Cox Gardner, head of the Baylor University psychology department—you'll probably make a better speech because you're scared.

Any emotional drive, even fear, makes for a better, more convincing talk, she told a Waco speech class. "If you are frightened a bit you'll be on your toes resolved to make a better speech," she counselled. "But don't allow your emotions to get control of your intellect."

THE NATIONAL CITY BANK OF NEW YORK
No. C 61717
NEW YORK, JUNE 12, 1940
PAY TO THE ORDER OF THE SECRETARY OF THE TREASURY OF THE UNITED STATES OF AMERICA
FOR A/C OF THE GOVERNMENT OF FINLAND
ONE HUNDRED FIFTY NINE THOUSAND THREE HUNDRED NINETY
EIGHT AND 00/100
FEDERAL RESERVE BANK OF NEW YORK

This check for $159,398, representing Finland's semi-annual payment on her war debt is delivered to Secretary of the Treasury Henry Morgenthau by Hjalmar Procope, minister from Finland. Though Finland has just emerged from a costly, exhausting war with Russia, the Finns are determined not to welch on their debts. Finland is the only European nation owing us war debts which has faithfully continued to pay instalments as they fall due.

COMPANY M TO JOIN REUNION

Mansfield Vets to Be Present at Meeting of Regiment in Bucyrus Over Week-End.

The annual reunion of the 146th regiment of which Co. M. was a unit will be held in Bucyrus Saturday and Sunday.

There will be registration in the American Legion club rooms in that city, starting at 1 p. m. Saturday. Activities will include dancing, a floor show, a breakfast, golfing and refreshments on various occasions.

A large number of Company M veterans from Mansfield is expected to attend the annual get-together. Arrangements have been made to provide transportation for veterans who do not have cars. These members are asked to call C. A. Hall, Poplar 4976, for transportation accomodations.

Major Russell J. Caton, president of the regimental association and Martin P. Bushnell, chairman of activities, will be in charge of the affair.

CRIPPLE LOADED.

BUTTE, Mont. —(U.P.)— Police had to recruit the services of a bank's counting machine when they found 31 pounds of silver coin in 11 bags secreted in the clothes of an elderly, bearded cripple booked as Frank Reed.

DR. REHDER HURT

Health Commissioner Injured In Fall at Home.

Dr. R. C. Rehder, city and county health commissioner, is reported improving at his home today after sustaining back injuries in a fall early this week.

Dr. Rehder was painting in the bathroom when he slipped, wrenching the muscles and ligaments of his back.

PATRIOTIC MEN LIE ABOUT AGE

LONDON —(U.P.)— Sergt. Edwin Scutt, gray-haired veteran of the World war, and England's ace recruiting sergeant, couldn't believe his eyes when he arrived at Whitehall on recruiting duty and found 450 recruits waiting to join up.

They were the men between 30 and 50, eligible for the Auxiliary Military Pioneer Corps.

"Talk about a shock," said the sergeant. "I wasn't selling them the army, they were selling it to me, and the lies some of those men told about their ages, just to get in, were shocking. They stuck to their guns, too. Some of the 65s won't be found out till they get before the doctor."

CORNELL GUESTS.

ITHACA, N. Y.—(U.P.)—An unusual use of academic facilities during the vacation period will be made at Cornell university this summer when a group of psychologists study and conduct research at the Cornell Summer Station in Psychology as guests of the university. No tuition or other fees will be charged the guests.

MOUNTED GUARD

Man on Donkey Defending Island From Invaders.

John has promoted himself to be the island's defense force. To add dignity to his position he has devised a uniform consisting of tartan kilt, sporran, tunic, forage cap, rifle and knee boots.

Throughout the day John patrols the shore of the island on Clarabelle, his fat, sedate donkey of uncertain age. Constantly he places his hands over his eyes and scans the skies.

"I'm not having German planes flying over here," he said as he gently patted his rifle. "Just let the Germans try. I'll fix them."

GIVE NUPTIAL EVENTS HONORING SEVERAL

Mrs. Kenneth Lang Feted; Coming Marriage of Miss Steinmetz Told at Evening Affair; Mrs. Wright Entertained.

EACH DAY the quota of nuptial entertaining is swelled by reports of a number of parties of the evening before honoring both brides-elect and recent brides in the Mansfield area. Last night Mrs. Kenneth Lang, the former Miss Helen Peffer, was the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower given by Miss Margaret Steward, Scholl road, and Mrs. Manford D. Crum.

Bridge was in play at two tables with prizes going to Miss Margaret Herrold and Miss Mary Jane Bellore. These were presented to the honoree along with a shower of gifts. The hostesses presented her with a gift of furniture.

The luncheon was served at a large table decorated with a centerpiece of garden flowers, and pink and white appointments. Each guest was given a corsage of garden flowers to which the bridge tallies were attached.

Miss Rita Steinmetz, 275 Auburn avenue, entertained with a miscellaneous shower honoring her sister, Miss Marcella Steinmetz, last night. There were 18 guests present for bridge and games, and prizes, which were later presented to the bride-elect, were won by Miss Virginia Gazdak, Miss Rose Huck, Mrs. Evelyn Gemzer and Mrs. L. Schwaner.

Pink and blue appointments were used on the small tables at which luncheon was served. Miss Steinmetz will become the bride of John Huck, 218 Wayne street, at the St. Peter's Catholic church on June 29.

The former Miss Louise Sears, now Mrs. Philip Wright, was feted last evening at a miscellaneous shower given by Mrs. Floyd Appleman, 98 Heineman boulevard, Miss Virginia Palmer and Mrs. Ted Appleman. The evening was spent in making a bride's book.

Refreshments were served on individual silver trays. Green and white appointments were used to carry out the decorative note. The hostesses presented the honoree with a gift of dishes.

Miss Helen McCracken, Miss Kay Walker and Mrs. Emil Bolantz entertained recently at the latter's home with a party honoring Mrs. George Garber, the former Miss Ruby Armstrong. Games were played, and refreshments were served at the small tables. The hostess presentd the honoree with a gift, and she was also given a shower of bathroom gifts.

MEET TOMORROW.

Members of the Past Councilors association will meet at Eagle hall Friday afternoon. A covered-dish dinner will be served following the meeting.

Mansfielder's Son Married In East Early This Month

Word has just been received here today of a marriage which took place at Takoma Park, Md. Miss Florence Anne Brewer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Brewer, Wilkes-Barre, Pa., became the bride of Harry Reynolds, son of Mrs. H. Thomas Fogel, 396 St. Clair street, on June 9. The noon ceremony was performed at the home of Elder Benjamin P. Hoffman in the presence of 20 guests.

The bride, who was formally attired in white satin, was attended by Miss Jane Goyne of Morristown, Pa., who wore a gown of blue chiffon. John Schmidt, Takoma Park, was best man. Both Mr. and Mrs. Reynolds are students at the Washington Missionary college.

The bride is a graduate of the Shenandoah Valley academy at New Market, Va. The newlyweds are now at home in Takoma Park following a short wedding trip to New York City.

Routine Session Held By St. John's Guild

There were 39 members of the St. John's guild present at the meeting held at the church with Mrs. Mary Schaller in charge. Mrs. Dora Garver read the scriptures. Musical selections were offered by Mrs. Dorothy Tingley, vocalist, and Miss Olive Jean Hughes, pianist. Miss Anna Hunter gave a reading.

Hostesses yesterday were Mrs. Ida Hunter, Mrs. Ida Winters, Mrs. Agnes Wilson and Miss Clara Yeager. The next meeting will be July 3 with Mrs. Nellie Maglott in charge of the program, assisted by Mrs. Martha Baer, Mrs. Bertha Biddle, and Mrs. May Belt.

Twins Will Be Charter Members of Assembly

When the institution and initiation ceremonies of the Mansfield chapter of the Rainbow assembly take place Saturday afternoon and evening four sets of twins will be among those becoming charter members. Shown above are three sets. Seated left to right are Harriett and Marjorie Smotherman, Irene and Ilene Hoffman. Standing are Marjorie and Margaret Crowl. Not shown in the photograph are Joann and Janet Banks. The initiation will be held during the afternoon followed by institution in the evening at John Simpson Junior high school. A 6 o'clock covered-dish dinner will be served at the Masonic temple to members of the assembly, their mothers, and out-of-town guests. The advisory board is in charge of arrangements.

Miss Kathryn Pfaff to Wed William Todd In Mid-July

FRIENDS of Miss Kathryn Pfaff's have just learned of her engagement and approaching marriage to William Todd. The ceremony, which will be an event of July 21, will be performed at the home of Coleman Todd, uncle of the bridegroom, 400 Park avenue west, at 3:30 p. m. Complete details of the affair will be announced later.

Miss Pfaff, a graduate of Mansfield Senior high school, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Pfaff, 623 West Fourth street. She is employed at the Ohio Bell Telephone company here. Mr. Todd, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. B. Todd, 357 Marion avenue, also attended the high school, and is now employed by Coleman Todd & Associates.

Announcement of the coming nuptials was made at a party given Tuesday evening by the bride-elect's two sisters, Mrs. Raymond Beal and Mrs. Jean Hurley, and Mrs. Pfaff at the family home on Fourth street. There were 24 guests seated at small tables at the dessert party. Each place was marked with a tiny boat on which a scroll bearing the nuptial news was placed. Green and white candles completed the setting.

Games were played throughout the evening with prizes going to Mrs. Harry Wolf, Miss June Ford, Mrs. Thomas Clarke and Miss Mollie Todd. Mrs. John Pfaff, sister-in-law from Salt Lake City, Utah, was a guest.

A gift of crystal was presented by the hostesses.

Mrs. Veral Dietzer, 294 West Sixth street, entertained 20 employes of the long distance division of the Ohio Bell Telephone company in honor of Miss Pfaff. Cards were played and prizes won by Miss Marriett Krebs and Mrs. Robert Oberlin. Luncheon was served at small stables decorated with roses. The bride-elect was presented with a gift by the hostess, and also by her co-workers.

Fraternity Plans for Dinner-Dance Tonight

Dinner will be served at 7:30, followed by dancing with Nels Blocker and his orchestra furnishing the music. Plans for the affair were arranged by a committee comprised of Don Zelenka, Gert Jessen and Vernon Smeltzer.

HAVE LUNCHEON.

Mrs. E. W. McCready, Marion avenue, was hostess to members of the Second District, First Lutheran church, Wednesday afternoon at her home. Twenty members and three guests, Mrs. W. G. McCready and sons, Don and Robert, were present. A knick-knack luncheon was served at the noon hour. During the afternoon a miscellaneous program was presented and a feature of the entertainment were trumpet duets by Don and Robert McCready. Devotions were in charge of the hostess. The next meeting will be held July 17 at the home of Mrs. Perry, Ashland road.

MELBA TOAST

Melba toast is not hard to make if a few simple rules are observed. Cut bread into thin slices (or use leftovers), cut off the crusts and place the bread in a shallow pan and set near heat for a couple of hours. This dries out the bread. Then bake it in a slow oven—300 degrees—until the bread has turned light brown.

CURRY IN DRESSING

Curry powder in French dressing does a lot for plain vegetable salads. For each cup of French dressing, mix in ¼ teaspoon curry powder, ½ teaspoon each of minced chives and parsley and one hard cooked egg, finely chopped.

Program on Youth Given at Guild

A program on youth was presented to the Women's Missionary society of the United Presbyterian church when the group gathered at the home of Mrs. M. A. Eakin in Woodland with Miss Grace Courtney assisting. There were 16 members and one guest, Miss Juliet Eakin, present.

The hostess led the devotions, and Miss Helen Brown was in charge of the program, and she spoke on "Youth Movements," after which Mrs. J. W. Waddell read an article on "Youth Forums." Mrs. A. E. Courtney read "Youth of Today," and Mrs. D. E. Craig concluded with "Too Busy to Be Thankful." Refreshments were served.

Members will meet July 17 with Mrs. Waddell for a noon picnic. Mrs. Craig and Mrs. Harry Martin are the associate hostesses.

REGULAR SESSION.

Members of the Aububon club met at the library of the First Congregational church Tuesday for their regular meeting with Mrs. H. C. McCutchan as hostess. Mrs. Ruth Orcutt furnished the program which was a discussion on "The Beaver." Peonies made a pretty centerpiece for the tea table at which Mrs. H. M. Spandau presided. The next meeting will be held in August with the date and place to be announced later.

Simple Ceremony Read For Couple Last Evening

Simplicity marked the marriage last night at 7 o'clock of Miss Margaret Gilbert, daughter of Vern Gilbert, 25 Wheatrow street, and Sidney Hofer, son of Mrs. Sidney Hofer, Orrville. The nuptials were performed at the St. Mark's Lutheran church parsonage with Rev. J. E. Marshall officiating.

Miss Gilbert, who was just graduated from Mansfield Senior high school this June, was attired in a midnight blue sheer frock with white accessories and a gardenia corsage. She was attended by Miss Roselyn Mason, who wore dusty rose lace with white accessories and a gardenia corsage. Gaylord Bucher was best man.

The young couple left for a short wedding trip after which they will be at home at 413 North Vine street, Orrville. Mr. Hofer, who attended the Orrville schools, is night manager of a restaurant in that community.

Exhibit 38 Gowns Before Audience At Baptist Church

Thirty-eight wedding gowns representing fashions from 1860 to the present time were shown last night at the Park Avenue Baptist church under the auspices of the Women's Union. Miss Esther Lantz served as commentator, and Willis Wygant, jr., was chairman of the ushers.

Arrangements for the affair were in charge of Mrs. Wallace V. Campbell, Mrs. Charles Swisher, Mrs. E. W. Kissel, Mrs. Laurence Todd, Mrs. Hayes Braker, Mrs. W. E. Wygant and Miss Edna Boswell.

The program was carried off with the same formality as a regular wedding ceremony with the ushers lighting the candles and laying the muslin strips while the nuptial music was played, and Miss Boswell sang.

CIRCLE PICNICS.

There were 18 members of the E. L. K. Sewing circle present at the picnic meeting held yesterday at the home of Mrs. Harry B. Soulen, 555 Overlook road. Games and contests preceded the 1 o'clock buffet picnic. Those in charge of arrangements in addition to the hostesses were Mrs. J. L. Stevens, Mrs. F. J. Heringhaus, Mrs. William Osborn, and Mrs. Stanley Schiller.

MANSFIELD SOCIAL CLUBS ENTERTAIN

Cards, Contests, Games Offer Diversion to Members of Smaller Organizations as Summer Progresses Into Mid-Season.

WHEN the skies are bright blue above, and the sun sends a steady stream of heat waves down on city and country alike it is the activity of smaller social organizations that keep the wheels of society slowly turning. Yesterday Mrs. O. O. Stichler, Ashland road, entertained members of the DeLuxe Pinochle club informally at her home. Mrs. Madge Amato was a guest.

Luncheon was served to the group, and prizes were awarded to Mrs. L. L. Wolf, Mrs. Walter Mapes, and Mrs. Amato. Mrs. R. C. Murray, Ford apartments, will entertain the group July 3.

There were 12 members of the Entre Nous club and two guests, Miss Betty Altaffer and Miss Mary Stahl, present at the meeting of the Entre Nous club yesterday when Mrs. Catherine Stahl, Dawson avenue, entertained. Following the routine business session five hundred and bunco were played.

Prizes were awarded to Mrs. Rose Berry and Mrs. Mary Hill. Luncheon was served. The next meeting will be a covered-dish picnic dinner July 18 at the home of Mrs. Kate Hannan, Olivesburg road.

Games were played last night when Miss Evelyn Gresmer, 511 Louise avenue, entertained. Prizes were won by Miss Elizabeth Cole and Miss Martha Grassbaugh. Luncheon was served later, and Miss Donna Bowman, 33 Arlington avenue, invited the girls to her home for a meeting July 10.

There were nine members of the Siempre Amigos club present yesterday at the meeting held with Mrs. Stanley Cramer, 27 Wise avenue. Bridge was in play at two tables, and prizes were won by Mrs. William Marks and Mrs. Herbert Wilson. The next meeting will be held July 18 with Mrs. Paul Monett, 50½ Baldwin avenue, as hostess.

WEDDING NOTICE.

Announcement was made here today that the wedding date of Miss Vivian McLaughlin and Gary Balliett has been advanced from June 27 to June 26. Miss McLaughlin and Mr. Balliett will be married at 7:30 p. m. at the First Lutheran church with Dr. Grover E. Swoyer officiating for the open church ceremony.

Travel Talks Given At Meeting of Class

The parish house was the scene last night of the meeting of the Christomathian class of the First Lutheran church when Mrs. Orpha Pulver led the devotions and conducted the business meeting. Travel talks on the west and south were given by Mrs. Tracy Charles and Mrs. May Goss. Both were illustrated.

Refreshments were served at the close of the meeting by Miss Bertha Landis, Mrs. Goss, Miss Emma Daum, Mrs. Elmer Adams and Mrs. William Kuhn. Plans were made to hold a picnic July 31.

HONOR FRIEND.

Mrs. Catherine Gandert, 104 South Diamond street, who has been confined to her home for some time, was honored yesterday noon with a covered-dish dinner by a group of her friends. Out-of-town guests were Mrs. A. B. Yarmen, Springfield, Mrs. Maggie Seitz and Mrs. Harry Armontrout, both of Galion.

Complexion Griefs Must Be Fought

By MME. QUI VIVE

Grey skins, pale skins, sallow ones, those with a yellow cast, skins speckled with red dots, sagging skins—all of these are linked up with physical conditions. Any doctor will tell you that complexions that are off color or out of form have meaning. He looks at them as he regards the eyes and the color of the lips. They are barometers.

It isn't to be expected that even the best complexion will always be satin-smooth, fine of texture, glowing with vitality. It is beset with hazards. A digestive upset in which the liver is concerned will make the complexion look greeneryyallery. Malnutrition or overwork will deplete the underlying tissues and cause lines to form, as will worry and emotional storms. The way to forestall beauty griefs is to do your beauty chores; do them regularly and faithfully.

Of course, this kind of a preachment isn't as interesting as a dissertation on the charms of makeup. But makeup can't get a toehold on a skin that is not in normal condition; it just shows up defects. Cosmetic aids are blessings, as we all know, but most women rely too much upon them. They fancy that a facial treatment will make up for loss of sleep, but it won't.

Keep in mind that firmness of tissues and muscles under the skin provides the youthful contour of the face. Creaming and friction will be found effective measures for retaining normal condition. One can't start too soon to give the complexion loving care. The 20-year girls need oily applications so the skin won't be rough, the 30 and 40 ones need them because, as birthdays come along, the oiling system slows up. Sebaceous glands are less active and it is their business to keep the cutaneous coating from drying out. If it does dry out then watch out for turkey tracks and all their miserable relatives.

Marriage Meddlers

By ADELE GARRISON

Continuation of "Married Comrades"

"Well! for crying into my bowl of suds!" Dicky ejaculated as I said that after all Philip Veritzen had found out what I was doing for Mary. "Don't tell me you're nursing an inferiority complex, or what have you, over that! You put over your scheme, didn't you?"

"She did that," Mary chimed in. "Bless her for being the duckiest and cleverest aunt that a poor girl ever had."

Noel spoke for the first time since we had entered the room, except for joining in the song when we danced around Mary.

"What gets me," he said, "is how my father found out about what you were doing, if he failed in the dictaphone stunt."

"Will somebody take my darling husband and tell him the facts of life?" Mary demanded, laughing, but with a touch of acerbity in her tone. "I don't dast, for he wouldn't believe me, but somebody ought to."

"The answer to that is very plain, Noel," Lillian said in kindly fashion, and I knew that she was reveling in her task. "Olina played the role of the cullud genelman in the woodpile, and played it to perfection."

"Olina!" Noel ejaculated, in evident bewilderment. "But how could she know anything about it? Nobody every confided in her! Mary!" As full realization struck him, he turned to his wife, patently horrified. "Mary! You don't possibly think that I—that I—"

"Spilled any beans to her?" his young wife finished for him. "No ducky, you're absolved on that count, as are all the rest of us. Olina didn't get the dope from any one of us confiding anything to her."

"Then how?—" Noel paused and shook his head as if to clear away cobwebs.

"Very simple, deah boy," Lillian drawled. "Olina's simply been doing a tall and fancy job of snooping that would do credit to Katie. And she a princess of the blood! I hope her mother takes a shingle to her. I'd gladly stand by and supply Olga with fresh ones as she wears 'em out."

"Look here, everybody," she said. "What do you really think? Did my dear papa-in-law really plan to put me through a course of sprouts, as he outlined just now, and plan all the time to give me the role if I came through? And did he fathom Aunt Madge's plan as he said he did from the beginning? Or did Olina's snooping give him the low down, and did he put on that show just to save his face?"

"That's what I want to know, too," her young husband chimed in. "It means a lot to me," he added, and we all knew he was thinking of his future relations with his father.

"Did you ever hear, you two," Harry Underwood said, "of a proverb concerning the undesirability of looking a gift horse in the mouth? You've got everything you want, Mary, and old Phil can't go back on you now. Just take the goods the gods—or rather the god—has provided, and let it go at that."

But Lillian voiced an amendment.

"I'd give your father the benefit of the doubt, Noel," she said. "I'll admit the whole thing looks a bit fishy, but on the other hand, I've known Phil Veritzen a long time, and everything he said about the regime he imposed on his stars was absolutely true. This stunt he pulled with Mary, is perfectly plausible, so why not believe his story? I, for one, am going to, and I advise you to."

"When Peter Pan came down to the footlights and asked everybody to believe in fairies, Lil was always the first one to yell 'Yes, I do,' and all the rest of it," Lillian's husband declared with an affectionate grin at her. "But—her advice is sound at that, and you'd better take it."

Garden Graph

Unique Euonymous.

Euonymous vines, shrubs or trees are usually grown for their showy fruits. Other species of the euonymous are prized for their evergreen foliage. The flowers of the euonymous, which bloom well into June, are rather inconspicuous.

Euonymous olatus is one of the most distinctive and finest Autumn shrubs for foliage effects. It is unique for its cork-barked, or cork-winged bark, illustrated in the Garden-Graph.

In the Autumn the leaves of this euonymous turn pink and crimson. After the foliage drops, the shrub's brightly-colored berries make a showy display.

Euonymous is not particular in regard to soil or exposure and will grow well in shade. The fact that it holds its colored berries long into the cold months also makes it a desirable shrub for Fall and Winter color.

HOROSCOPE

For Friday, June 21.

Swift, sudden, surprising and thrilling are the words best to describe the auguries dominating this day, according to the lunar as well as mutual aspects. It is a day for a dynamic march upon high objectives, involving audacious projects or radical reversal of old ideals, plans and purposes. Definite change seems inevitable, with many peculiar and palpitating experiences, and while these are alluring it would be hazardous to indulge in impetuous, rash, or clamorous conduct. Deliberation, restraint and finesse, even in a whirlwind of circumstances, should prove more lucrative and salutary.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of surprising, whirlwind or breathtaking events, in which there may be a sudden uprooting of all that is effete, routine, orthodox and conventional.

A child born on this day may be high-keyed and dynamic, adventurous, temperamental, and have unusual talents and abilities, with swift flights of fancy into the unknown and perhaps unknowable.

Lepley

BRIEFS.

The Lepley school reunion of all the former teachers and pupils and their friends will be held Sunday, June 23 at the Kilaver Grove adjoining the old Lepley school grounds. Everybody is cordially invited to attend. Come and enjoy the day together. John Smith, president, Luella Leibolt, secretary.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

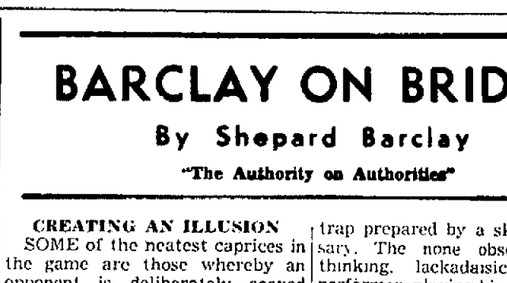
"The Authority on Authorities"

CREATING AN ILLUSION

SOME of the neatest caprices in the game are those whereby an opponent is deliberately coaxed into believing the situation entirely different from what it actually is. An odd characteristic of plays involving such a principle is that some of them will work against a fine player and not against a run-of-the-mine one. The truly skilled cardsman will make the logical inferences which cause him to build trap prepared by a skillful adversary. The none observant, notthinking, lackadaisical, careless performer, playing his cards almost "any old way," may thwart the finest play of this kind without knowing why.

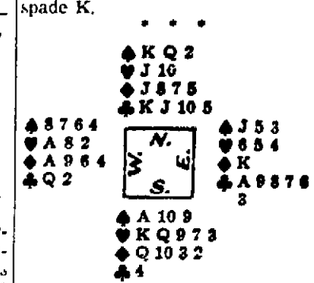
West led the club A then made est led tWhe club A then made a bad switch to the heart Q, when he should have led the 6 of the spade suit which had been doubled by his partner. Declarer, of course, won in dummy, then ran four diamonds. West discarding two clubs and a heart.

Clearly the hand depended on prevention of a losing trick in spades. Also the finesse was marked as virtually certain to lose, by East's having doubled that suit. The wily declarer studied a while, then saw a way to create an illusion. He led his spade J to dummy's A and returned the 8. East thought plenty Finally he counted South as having held a singleton in spades, two hearts, four clubs and six diamonds, and his partner three spades, four hearts, one diamond and five clubs if that was right, playing his K on the spade 8 would get it ruffed, then the rest of the suit would be good. So he played low on the 8. South then put on the 3, letting the 8 win, and he now discarded his spade 9 on the heart A, clearing his hand of everything except sure winners. Had East been a less skillful card reader, he might have beaten the contract with a careless play of his spade K.



(Dealer: East North-South vulnerable.)

East	South	West	North
Pass	1 ♦	1 ♥	Dbl
Pass	2 ♦	3 ♣	3 ♥
Pass	4 ♦	Pass	4 ♠
Dble	5 ♦	Pass	6 ♦



(Dealer: North. Neither side vulnerable.)

If West leads the spade 4 against South's 3-No Trumps, why should the declarer seek two of his tricks in clubs instead of in diamonds?

KNOX-STIMSON APPOINTED TO CABINET POSTS

of the president's foreign policy and his $5,000,000,000 preparedness program.

Already in the cabinet are two men who wore Republican labels up to the 1932 campaign—Secretary of Agriculture Henry Wallace and Secretary of Interior Harold L. Ickes.

Retirement of Woodring, who was former governor of Kansas, from the cabinet has been anticipated for some months.

It is reported reliably that Woodring was offered two diplomatic posts, the last that of American minister to Canada, but declined both.

The cabinet shakeup, Washington observers were quick to note, came on the eve of the Republican national convention in Philadelphia.

In a recent public utterance Stimson not only approved the president's pledge to make America's material resources available to the hard-pressed Allies but urged that still further aid be extended them "short of war."

Knox was first offered the navy portfolio several months ago following the death of Secretary Claude Swanson. He is understood to have declined at that time but promised the president he would be available if the nation faced an emergency of the first water.

Senate Astounded By Appointments.

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)—The senate was almost speechless today when informed of President Roosevelt's appointment of the Republicans, Henry L. Stimson and Col. Frank Knox to the cabinet as secretaries of war and the navy.

Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, D., Mont., shown a dispatch reporting the cabinet shifts, was almost speechless. When he recovered, he said:

"I'm not surprised because both of these men have been strong advocates of the administration's foreign policy, and from their utterances I believe they would be glad to see this country go to the aid of the Allies to the extent of declaring war."

Sen. Styles Bridges, R., N. H., a candidate for the Republican presidential nomination, rushed from the senate shouting: "Is this true?" Assured that it was, he said he was incapable of comment.

Senators gathered in little clusters, with surprise written all over their faces. Their conversation buzzed so loudly that Sen. John E. Miller, D., Ark., who was presiding, suspended business for several minutes.

Sen. William H. King, D., Utah, told the senate he hoped there will be "prompt action on confirmation of these illustrious men."

Knox Outlines Defense Plan.

GRAND RAPIDS, Mich.—(INS)—Less than 24 hours before he was appointed secretary of the navy by President Roosevelt today, Col. Frank Knox, Chicago publisher and Republican vice presidential candidate in 1936, outlined a six-point defense program for the United States to the Michigan Bankers' association.

It follows:

2.—Control of the Atlantic for United States either through cooperation with Britain or the building of the world's largest fleet.

3.—United States protection of the entire western hemisphere.

4.—Development of plane and submarine bases from the Arctic to the Antarctic.

5.—Formation of the world's most powerful air fleet and development of the world's greatest aviation production capacity.

Defense Tax Measure Passed.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—A democratic senate ignored administration pleas for a non-controversial revenue bill last night and approved defense tax legislation only after voting stringent levies on those who would profit from war.

The chamber agreed to the [illegible] of income tax exemptions and to [illegible] of the excise tax boosts which the house passed in an effort to raise an extra $1,007,000,000 a year. Then the senate added:

1. An immediate excess profits tax on all corporations to produce between $400,000,000 and $500,000,000 annually.

2. War profits taxes which Senator Connally (D-Tex), the sponsor, estimated would raise about $800,000,000,000 a year from individuals and possibly a like amount from corporations. The levy would go into effect only upon a congressional declaration of war.

"This amendment," Connally said, "milks the old cow down to the point of exhaustion, but it doesn't quite put her out of business."

Army Expansion Plan Drafted.

BULLETIN

WASHINGTON—(U.P.)— The senate today approved the supplemental $1,777,489,788 (B) army and navy appropriation bill containing funds for additional expansion of the armed forces and sped it back to the house for final action.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—The administration is drafting a new army expansion program of undisclosed proportions to match the navy's $4,000,000,000 fleet expansion program, authoritative sources disclosed today.

The plan, it was said, is being developed at top speed by high war department officials and members of the newly-created national defense commission for President Roosevelt's approval.

This was learned as the senate heard suggestions that government officials responsible for sale of newly-authorized naval vessels to Great Britain be "relieved of their duties" and prepared to approve the $1,777,489,788 supplemental army-navy supply bill—the last major request in President Roosevelt's $5,000,000,000 defense program.

The projected army program was described in one quarter as a "companion step" to the navy's proposal for a 70 per cent expansion in the fleet. That program, involving construction of approximately 200 more warships, has been approved by the house naval affairs committee and is awaiting house consideration.

It was understood that acquisition of aircraft and new weapons, rather than a large standing army, would be stressed under the new program.

It also was expected to call for an immediate increase in the number of anti-tank and anti-aircraft guns, armored tanks of upward of 30 tons, motorized vehicles and other mechanized equipment.

Meanwhile, the senate naval affairs committee, described by its chairman, David I. Walsh, as "indignant," began an inquiry into naval operations to determine how far the "short-of-war" aid to the Allies policy has progressed. Walsh also was angered by disclosure yesterday that the navy has guaranteed shipbuilders a 10 per cent profit on approximately $1,000,000,000 worth of warship contracts.

Latin-American Bases Sought.

WASHINGTON—(AP)—Establishment of Latin-American bases for the United States navy, a usually well-informed source said today, may be one of the subjects raised at the projected Pan-American conference on hemisphere problems of military and economic defense.

Both aircraft and fleet bases would be involved in any such discussion, this official said.

ELECT HENKEL AS COMMUNITY FUND PRESIDENT

Trustees Retain All Officers at Election; Executive Committee Named.

The Mansfield Community Fund will retain its officers for another year, with C. H. Henkel, Mansfield attorney, again heading the organization which represents the city's nine welfare agencies.

Recently elected trustees of the Community Fund held their reorganization meeting last night at the Larwill room of the Public library. Henkel was out of the city on business and L. W. Miller served as temporary chairman.

Officers re-elected to serve with Henkel are Robert Remy, vice president; W. C. Mansfield, treasurer, and Otho C. McCormick as secretary. This is McCormick's eighth year in that position.

Four men and one woman were elected to serve with the officers on the executive committee. They are George W. Stephens, George Draffan, C. N. Shultz, Harold W. Arlin and Mrs. Tom Ford. The executive committee determines administrative policies.

Arlin presented the resignation of Clarence L. Van Derau elected a trustee last week, and who cannot serve because of the other community movements in which he is taking part.

REASON GIVEN

State Employe Accused of Working For Paper.

COLUMBUS—(AP)—Drawing cartoons for the weekly Millersburg Farmer-Hub was one of the reasons listed for dismissal of Hoy Russell, Wooster district manager for the bureau of unemployment compensation commission. He also was accused in an order effective next Monday of being absent from duty and using office supplies for his personal use. He had been manager since Dec. 5, 1938.

TURNERS BARRED

TOLEDO—(U.P.)—University of Toledo officials today refused use of the university stadium to the American Turners, athletic association for persons of German descent.

The university's statement of refusal said authorities were "convinced that a meeting held on the campus at this time of crisis and state of public mind is not advisable."

The Turners had asked for the stadium to hold a three-day sports program for 1,000 members in the Lake Erie district. The meet is scheduled to open tomorrow.

FLIER KILLED

DAYTON—(AP)—Lieut. Robert H. Quigley, air reserve officer at Patterson Field, was killed at 10 a. m. today when the army pursuit plane he was flying crashed at Wright field.

Witnesses said the plane, flying low over the field, suddenly dipped, one wing struck the ground and the craft turned over and crashed about 100 yards from the Wright field operations building.

ing departure of large quantities of war material for an 'unknown destination. It was thought, however, that these supplies were being sent to Turkish Thrace.

(An Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Gothenburg said that, according to reports from Moscow, Turkish Foreign Minister Sucru Saracoglu is en route to Moscow to sign a Russo-Turkish non-aggression pact.)

Allies Watching Japanese Threat.

SHANGHAI—(INS)—British and French authorities in the Far East today kept a close watch on developments in French Indo-China as a result of Japanese demands that the French-controlled area halt all shipments of military supplies to the Chunking government in China.

Japanese military and naval forces were reported concentrated in considerable numbers on and around nearby Hainan island.

It was understood in Shanghai that defense precautions in Indo-China were redoubled and that United States naval authorities also were paying close attention to the situation.

(Editor's Note: A Reuters (British) dispatch from Shanghai said it was reported without confirmation that the United States is contemplating a public statement regarding Indo-China similar to that in which the American government warned Japan against occupation of the Dutch East Indies.)

Reds Massed on Rumanian Border.

ROME—(INS)—Forty-four Soviet divisions are massed on the Rumanian frontier, the newspaper Messaggero reported from Budapest today.

The same paper, in undated stories, said Corsica is revolting against France and that a seditious movement has begun in French Morocco, particularly in the Fez region.

WED IN BERLIN

National Cash Register Heir Marries New York Girl.

BERLIN—(AP)—Jefferson Patterson of Dayton, O., National Cash Register company heir and first secretary of the United States embassy, was married here today to Mary Marvin Breckenridge of New York.

The ceremony in the embassy was performed by Rev. Stewart Hermann, pastor of the American church of Berlin. The bride was given in marriage by the American Charge D'Affaires Donald R. Heath. The best man was Dana Hodgdon, consul general.

URGES DICTATOR

Dawes Says Defense Should Be One-Man Job.

CHICAGO—(INS)—Immediate appointment of a virtual war preparedness dictator responsible only to the president was urged today by Gen. Charles G. Dawes, former vice president and chief procurement officer for the A. E. F. during the World war.

Warning that the United States, like the Allies, might be "too late" with its defense preparations, Dawes last night told a meeting of the National Retail Dry Goods association that complete co-ordination of preparedness moves was imperative.

Dawes expressed skepticism of the value of defense committees and advisory boards, asserting that such management of defense "was fatal in 1917 to our proper military preparedness."

DOUBLE HOUSE

MADISON, Mo.—(AP)—Farmer Pearl Clark cut down a bee tree, took out 90 pounds of honey and two swarms of bees.

Then the tree paid an unexpected bonus—a mother opossum and 11 youngsters which had holed up in another part of the trunk.

EXECUTION SET

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The Ohio supreme court yesterday denied the appeal of Monroe Bohannon, Cincinnati, from his conviction for the murder of Joseph Peters, Cincinnati, during a robbery, and set the date of his execution in the electric chair for July 10.

CIVIC TRAFFIC COMMITTEE TO SUBMIT PLAN

Believe Proposals Will Curb Congestion; Would Widen Walnut by Six Feet.

A plan to widen several of the most congested down town streets will be submitted to city officials by the citizens' committee on the traffic survey, it was learned today.

Most important of the streets involved is Walnut street from West Fourth to the alley just south of the City building. Two other streets included in the recommendation will be North and South Park streets.

North Walnut street, from Park avenue to West Fourth is the worst problem in traffic with which the city has to contend, according to results of the survey.

The recommendation will be to cut possibly three feet from sidewalks on each side of the street, adding six feet to the street pavement. The pavement will permit two wider lanes for traffic.

There will be a number of problems to be worked out if the plan is carried out, members of the committee said today. Several stores on Walnut have basements that extend under sidewalk to the curb.

The proposal to increase the width of North and South Park will involve no great problems, it was said. From seven to nine feet can be added on the south side of North Park and the same amount to the north side of South Park, the survey shows, simply by moving the present sidewalk a few feet farther into the park. This will not disturb any trees in the park, committeemen said.

26 CONGRESS MEMBERS ASK PARTY PLANK

GOP Speakers Take Turns Attacking Roosevelt Foreign Policy.

PHILADELPHIA —(AP)— An emphatic demand that the Republican resolutions committee declare itself flatly against any measures that might lead America into war went into the bulging portfolios of the platform framers today

It came from a delegation of 26 Republican house members, led by Rep. Hamilton Fish of New York who denounced President Roosevelt's foreign policies and asserted:

Earlier John L. Lewis, the CIO chieftain, in an extemporaneous address had touched off the day's high spot with a declaration that the president's proposal for compulsory national service was "a fantastic suggestion from a mind in full intellectual retreat."

The house group appeared before the committee late last night in what Representative Corbett of Pennsylvania said was a "spontaneous" movement.

One after another they assailed administration policies and urged the committee to pull no punches in the forthcoming campaign.

Proclaiming a policy of America for Americans; Europe for Europeans, Fish declared "if we weaken we might as well endorse the Democratic platform. Aid to the Allies short of war is not a peace measure."

"These are hokum grabbers running the government now," Representative Bender of Ohio commented and Representative Bradley of Michigan asked:

"Have you forgotten that they haven't paid for what we sold them in the last war?"

In an unscheduled appearance before the committee, Col. Robert R. McCormick, publisher of the Chicago Tribune, described the president's proposal for compulsory national service as "insanity and nothing less."

"It would be a tragic blunder," he said, "to call away from their occupations millions of civilians whom we cannot clothe for months or arm for years.

Later the committee separated into individual groups to work out various phases of the platform.

Porter Accused In Stabbing, Enters Not Guilty Plea

A charge of first degree murder was filed in municipal court this morning against Albert Davis, 37-year-old colored porter accusing him of the slaying of Mrs. Lena Morton, 34, colored, found stabbed to death in her bedroom late Tuesday night. The affidavit was signed by Detective O. M. Krupp.

Arraigned before Judge G. E. Kalbfleisch a few minutes later, Davis pleaded innocent, waived preliminary hearing and was bound over to the grand jury without bond.

Davis was arrested in a northside rooming house by police two hours after Mrs. Morton's body was discovered by another tenant in the house at 244½ North Mulberry street.

Detective Lee J. Remy today quoted Davis as saying, "she done me wrong," as the detective advanced the theory of jealousy as the motive for the stabbing. Davis would not tell officers what the "wrong" was.

U. S. MARINES PREPARED FOR QUICK ACTION

Ready to Embark Within Two Hours If Needed For Defense Duty.

By JACK VINCENT

QUANTICO, Va. — The fleet force of the U. S. marnes—2,400 fully equipped, veteran troops—today is prepared to embark on two hours notice if European war developments force a crisis over island possessions of France in the western hemisphere.

Typical of marine corp preparedness was a conversation at staff headquarters between a brigadier general and an officer commanding a battalion. The general asked:

"Are you all packed?"

"All ready, sir," replied the officer.

Full details of the embarkation plan, it was learned, have been worked out in advance so that there will be no loss of time if the marines are ordered into action.

The marines, it was pointed out, occupy a unique position in the U. S. military establishment. They were created as an expeditionary force, and can move into any foreign country without formal declaration of war if the president orders it on the grounds that American interests are threatened.

For that reason, the marines stationed in the Quantico post are ready for instant action. Time tables have been worked out. If ordered to move, the marines probably would entrain for Norfolk, Va., and board troop ships. Marine corps commanders know almost to the minute how long it will take to move the fleet force, fully equipped, together with airplane and tank squadrons, to any point in the western hemisphere.

Europe's war has heightened the morale of the marines, according to veteran officers. Marines in bayonet practice and field maneuvers on Quantico's 6,000 acres yell like Indians in mock attacks. Blitzkrieg warfare, the officers said, holds no terrors for them.

A veteran marine officer was asked if he thought the marines could force a landing on a hostile shore in the face of modern mechanized opposition. His reply was:

"Landings are always difficult."

It was obvious that he was confident that, if the marines were ordered to effect a landing, they could do it.

The marines, it was recalled, were "blitzkrieging" long before Europe's latest war. In past campaigns, the marines used airplane squadrons as advance attack units for ground troops. Today's dive bombers had their forerunner in the marine corps. One of the most effective blows ever delivered by the marines—during a campaign to suppress a bandit leader—was struck by dive bombers. The bandit leader never again led his forces.

Because of the mountainous terrain, no tanks were used in that campaign. But the marines, keeping abreast of modern warfare, have developed a means of landing tanks even under enemy fire. Snub-nosed, heavily-armored landing barges, carrying tanks, have been developed. They can operate in even the shallowest water.

TELLS LEGION DEMOCRACY HAS MEANS TO PRESERVE ITSELF

Democracy has within itself the means for its own preservation in time of emergency without sacrificing civil rights and liberties, members of McVey post, American Legion, were told last night at their 21st birthday anniversary celebration.

Carl Smith, Kenton, active in state legion work and a former newspaper man, spoke on "What the Legion Has Been Preaching for 21 Years—National Defense."

"We have been preaching national defense from the very beginning of our existence as an organization of war veterans," he said, "but preaching it as a guarantee against war; a means to an end, and that end is peace."

He said that Americans have taken their liberty and national freedom as a matter of course and that just now the nation is awakening to the fact that if it wants to keep them it must be prepared o defend them.

He said that mistaken individuals today believe that constitutional rights, civil liberties and individual freedom must be sacrificed in order to function properly as a nation on the defensive.

"In our national constitutional convention of 1787 the question arose as to whether the democratic form of government under the constitution would be strong enough to defend itself in the emergencies of civil emergencies or foreign invasions," he told his audience of more than 200 last night.

Power Exercised Twice.

"Seventy five years later in the midst of a civil war, Lincoln exercised the full powers permitted under the constitution in behalf of national unity and saved the nation without infringing on the processes of democracy, or permanent impairment of individual rights. Again in 1917 Woodrow Wilson faced an emergency of foreign origin and again it was met while we still stood firmly on our constitutional rights."

Members of the Legion auxiliary were guests last night and presented the post with a basket of red, white and blue flowers for its "coming of age" birthday. Mrs. Walter L. Beckley, member of the national advisory committee of the auxiliary and a past department president, brought greetings from the national organization, and Mrs. R. O. Jones, president of McVey Post auxiliary, extended greetings for her group.

Charles Rader and son, Philip, of Ashland, entertained with a program of ventriloquism and whistling. A guest at the party was Charles E. Booth, past state commander of the West Virginia American Legion.

COUPLE MARRY AT BELLVILLE

Mr. and Mrs. Robert M'Carron Take Wedding Trip in South.

BELLVILLE—Miss Mary Catherine Maxwell, daughter of Mrs. Jennie Maxwell, of near Bellville, and Robert McCarron, jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert McCarron, sr., of Bellville, were united in marriage June 12 at 7:30 p. m. at the St. Paul Salem Lutheran church here.

The single ring service was read by Rev. J. M. O'Morrow, pastor of the church. Mrs. V. Douglas Thomas presided at the organ, playing nuptial music for a quarter hour preceding the service and during the ceremony played the traditional wedding music.

Mrs. Robert Maxwell, sister-in-law of the bride, was matron of honor. She wore a light blue crepe dress with white accessories. Her corsage was of pink roses. Robert Maxwell, brother of the bride, was best man.

Immediately following the wedding a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents for 50 guests. Later the couple left for a motor trip through the south. For traveling Mrs. McCarron wore a blue sheer printed bemberg with white accessories.

She is a graduate of Lexington high school and the bridegroom attended Bellville high school. He is an employe of the Ohio Brass company. Upon their return they will reside near Bellville.

START WORK ON NEW POSTOFFICE IN SIX MONTHS

New Legislation Necessary to Start $300,000 Structure Here, Washington Says.

Following announcement yesterday that the federal postal department had decided to build a new postoffice in Mansfield, word from Washington said today that work on the $300,000 structure will start in the next six months.

The announcement confirmed a statement issued yesterday by U. S. Senator Vic Donahey who reported that a new Mansfield postoffice was on the government schedule.

Work authorization for the project has already been obtained and there will be no new legislation necessary to get the work started, representatives of the Federal Works Agency procurement division asserted, according to an Associated Press dispatch to The News-Journal.

While the exact cost of the proposed building is not known, it will be approximately $300,000, the dispatch said. Senator Donahey said yesterday that $310,000 had been requested for the new building.

The postoffice department explained that original plans for a $180,000 addition to the present postoffice were given up "as a matter of economy because a postal survey disclosed more space will be needed than was originally contemplated."

Commenting on the proposed structure, Smith W. Purdum, second assistant postmaster general, asserted that "it will be a very fine project, and the building planned will be modern and up-to-the-minute and one of which the postoffice department and Mansfield will have every reason to be proud."

Same Site Possible.

Postmaster Herman Homberger said today he still had received no information from the federal government about where the new building will be erected. He repeated, however, that it probably will go up on the combined site of the present building on West Fourth street and the former Mansfield Mutual Fire Insurance property just east of the old post office. The insurance property was acquired last August by the postoffice department for $26,000.

PLAYS AT PARK

George Warner and his orchestra will again play for dancing Sunday night at Seccaium park near Galion, and will present a 10-act floor show, park officials announced today.

WINDSOR HEADS TOWARD SPAIN

Germans Say Churchill Has Ordered Arrest of Former King.

CANNES, France —(AP)— The Duke of Windsor left his Riviera residence by automobile today headed for Spain. The American-born Duchess already had departed.

BERLIN —(INS)— The official German news agency DNB, in a dispatch datelined from the Franco-Swiss border, said today:

"It is rumored that British Prime Minister Winston Churchill has ordered the arrest of the Duke of Windsor as soon as he steps on British soil on grounds that the latter adopted an attitude hostile to the British government and king.

"It appears that Windsor quit his post of Franco-British liaison officer as a protest against the British expeditionary force's conduct of the battle of Flanders."

LONDON—(INS)—Brtish officials today refused to comment on Berlin and Rome rumors that arrest of the Duke of Windsor has been ordered by the government.

"No comment is possible," an authoritative spokesman said.

Willkie Backers Seek Support of Senator Vandenberg

FIRST BALLOT FINDS DEWEY, TAFT LEADING

(By International News Service)

PHILADELPHIA — A drive to line up delegates held by Wendell Willkie, Sen. Arthur Vandenberg of Michigan, and Gov. Arthur H. James of Pennsylvania into a solid block to back Willkie for the Republican presidential nomination developed today.

At the same time it was understood the Willkie forces were seeking to drive deeper the wedge between supporters of Sen. Robert A. Taft of Ohio and Thomas E. Dewey of New York —this to prevent any possible Taft-Dewey tieup which would automatically kill the chances of other aspirants.

The double-edged move on behalf of Willkie came as delegates from all over the country continued to pour into Philadelphia in preparation for the G. O. P. convention, now only four days away and looming as one of the most wide open affairs in recent political history.

Taft and Dewey were still considered the strongest candidates, with most observers contending the Ohio senator would have the greatest number of votes on the first ballot, but with all agreeing the two would share more than 600, or well over 501 needed to nominate

Willkie, however, had become definitely the strongest "outsider," and the stertegy of his handlers appeared to consist of a move to line up all possible support and then seek a deadlock between Dewey and Taft which would allow their man to move up after the first ballot.

It has been long known that Willkie supporters are woping the 72 Pennsylvania delegates nominally controlled by Governor James, and the latter's admission yesterday that he was not a serious candidate but was "shopping around" indicated they may be meeting with success.

Not so well known, however, is the fact that Willkie forces have been making overtures toward the Vandenberg camp— said to control some 80 or 90 first-ballot delegates, or as many as Willkie himself now owns.

Willkie, it was learned, made an unscheduled trip to Washington himself earlier this week, and some observers believed he personally talked the matter over with the Michigan forces then.

In face of this threat of a three-way deadlock, it was believed stronger efforts are being made either to bring Taft and Dewey together, or to throw some of the other "dark horses" behind one of the two in order to garner sufficient strength for a nomination.

Supreme Court to Review Troy Bank Night's Legality

The Ohio Supreme court will decide next fall on the legality of "bank night," the feature that has drawn bigger crowds to theaters than free dishes and double-feature programs.

Associated Press dispatches from Columbus today had decided today to hear an appeal from a decision handed down by a Miami county court which held that a Troy, O., theater is subject to prosecution for conducting "bank night."

The supreme court recessed for the summer, however, and will not hear the appeal until it reconvenes, probably in September. The appeal it will hear was filed by the Troy Amusement company which lost its case in the Miami county court. The court there defined "bank night" as a "gambling scheme."

The "bank night" plan involved in the Troy case was materially the same as that used by three Mansfield theaters, and the high courts decision will determine whether theater operators here and elsewhere in Ohio can continue to sponsor the plan without interference from authorities.

Legislature Passes Munitions Measure

Up and Down THE STREET

Mansfield music circles will lose one of its prominent figures this summer when Mrs. Albert Twitchell and family follows Mr. Twitchell to Atlanta, Ga. Twitchell, an insurance agent, has been transferred to the home office of his company and his family will follow later in the summer. Mrs. Twitchell has been organist at First Presbyterian church for several years and has been an active member of the Music Study club.

Sheriff E. P. Long's deputies were a little disappointed this morning but nevertheless somewhat proud of the fact that a Columbus uniform manufacturer should consider their department of such size that he sent them a dozen new summer caps when they had only ordered five. Deputy Glenn P. Freeman opened a huge box that was delivered today and discovered the caps along with a dozen shirts, but none of them were the right size or color. The light weight "toppers" were ordered several days ago.

An official touch will be added to the ceremonies at Johns park tomorrow night when Doris Radovich, 16, of 25 Crestline avenue, is crowned first queen of the park's annual strawberry festival. According to an announcement by park officials today, Mayor W. J. Locke will be on hand to officiate at the crowning scheduled for 8 p. m.

The Mansfield schools were the first in Ohio to offer their facilities to the federal government in the national defense program, and school officials have received a letter from the U. S. director of education at Washington, thanking them for their prompt action. Schools here got the jump on the others when Dr. John S. Hattery, vice president of the board of education, proposed using the high school vocational department for training in airplane building. The offer was made about a month ago, immediately after the big defense program was announced.

SHELBY — No regular Epworth league service will be held Sunday night at First Methodist church because of the county rally of leagues to be held at the church, Miss Marjorie Knapp, president, announced today.

BRITISH WOMEN WANT TO LOOK BEST FOR DEATH FROM SKIES

(By United Press)

LONDON—Bombs dropped on England today and women crowded beauty parlors looking for facials.

The manager of a chain of beauty shops said English women wanted to look their best, even for death.

The markets offered large stocks of grapefruit, cape pears, luscious grapes and other fresh produce.

Although regular patrons stay home evenings to listen to war news over the radio, theaters were running full blast and the department stores were crowded. Only a few of the swank "plush trade" stores in the west end had put up their shutters.

The sudden shortage of Italian waiters hurt some of the restaurants a little but many Italians who have been in England for a long time continued their normal activities.

The interest of British women in there appearance, reminded of Berlin just before the Munich agreement of September, 1938, when war seemed imminent. The German women, who had been shabby all-summer, suddenly blossomed forth in new hats, fresh make-up and silk stockings which had been hoarded for just such an occasion.

Apparently, German and English women face emergencies similarly. If you're going to be blown to bits you might as well be chic when you have your rendezvous with death.

STROKE FATAL

Mrs. Mayme M. Gwinner Dies at Galion Hospital.

GALION — Mrs. Mayme M. Gwinner, 47, of 454 Grand street, died at 10:15 p. m. Wednesday at the Good Samaritan hospital, following a stroke.

She was born in St. Clairsville Nov. 29, 1892, and was married to Mervin Gwinner June 27, 1918 in Detroit. She has lived in Galion for the past 21 years, coming here from Seville.

Surviving are her husband, Mervin, a son, Paul, and a daughter, Ruth, all at home; a brother, Chester Failor of Medina.

Funeral services will be held Saturday at 1:30 p. m. at the family home and at 2 p. m. at the United Brethren church. Rev. O. E. Knepp will be in charge. Burial will be in the Fairview cemetery.

ROLLER STOLLEN

Four-Ton Road Equipment Taken On Tractor.

CINCINNATI—(U.P.)—Theft of a four-ton road roller was reported to police today.

William J. McNamara, contractor, believes the roller, valued at $1,800, was loaded on a tractor last night and hauled away from a construction job by three men.

WAR INDUSTRY PERMITTED FOR BUCKEYE FIRMS

BULLETIN

COLUMBUS—(U.P.)—The Ohio senate moved toward early adjournment today when the senate passed and sent to the governor a bill to increase old age pension maximum monthly payments from $30 to $40. The vote was 32 to 0.

(By International News Service)

COLUMBUS — Legislation permitting Ohio corporations to manufacture implements of war for national defense took the spotlight today as the 93rd general assembly prepared to wind up its special session by acting swiftly on the last of emergency measures submitted by Governor Bricker.

In a last minute message, Bricker urged the legislature to authorize industry to aid in the defense program. The assembly responded with lightning speed by passing the Ward-Blum bill by a vote of 32-0 in the senate and 119-0 in the house.

(Under existing laws, Ohio concerns are limited to manufacture articles for which they were organized.)

Final action by the senate on the Hayden bill to boost old age pensions from a maximum of $30 to $40 per month and the Roberts bill to increase aid to needy blind was all that remained before the legislature adjourned.

Legislative leaders predicted that the entire emergency program would be completed this afternoon to permit members to attend the Republican national convention which opens in Philadelphia Monday.

Previously, in sessions that lasted until midnight, the upper and lower chambers completed passage of bills that split the national and state tickets, appropriated additional funds for relief, old age pensions and dependent children, and authorized Ohio corporations to manufacture implements of war.

In addition to those mentioned, the Republican-dominated assembly passed numerous resolutions, and the senate confirmed appointments made by the governor since the regular session adjourned last year.

ELECTION SET

Westinghouse Employes Vote on Bargaining Agent July 1.

The National Labor Relations board at Cleveland today scheduled for July 1, an election among production and maintenance employes at the Mansfield Westinghouse plant to determine a collective bargaining agent.

Regional Director Oscar S. Smith said approximately 4,000 employes will vote on the question of representation by the CIO, United Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers or by no union.

Petition for the election was filed with the regional board at Cleveland several weeks ago by Local 711 of the UERW.

The Westinghouse Employes association lost a similar election last December by a vote of 1,445 to 943 against representation by the independent union, after the CIO affiliate had withdrawn from participation.

ATTEND DAYTON MUSIC MEETING

Mansfield Teachers At Convention of Ohio Association.

A number of Mansfield music teachers are in Dayton this week attending the annual convention of the Ohio Music Teachers association. The conference opened Tuesday and closes today.

Outstanding music educators of the state have been on the program and there have been special group conferences for piano, singers, organists, violinists and theory teachers.

Today's program included the annual election of officers. Among Mansfield music instructors who are attending are Miss Florence Gernhardt, Mrs. Edward Gibson, Mrs. Margaret Hall, Mrs. Eleanor Eckert, Miss Thelma Reed, Mrs. H. H. Clingan, Mrs. Marie Porterfield and Miss Florence MacDonald.

FISH FRY

ASHLAND — One hundred fifty members of the Ashland Rotary club, Rotary Anns, their families and friends attended the annual fish fry held at Brookside park here.

The Voice of BROADWAY

—By DOROTHY KILGALLEN

You Can't Print That!

(This is a compendium of tales that can only be told without names, because they're too true to print. If there is any resemblance to actual persons—living or dead—you've probably guessed right!)

Eloise is a pretty young actress on Broadway who went to Hollywood a year ago and made screen tests for all the studios, but came back without a job.

"You're fine," she was told invariably, "but you look too much like Gloria Zilch, the big star. You look like her twin."

So naturally Eloise was amused when she met, and began going out with, a fellow who used to be Gloria Zilch's husband. For a short while, it looked to the Broadwayites like a romance, but they began to quarrel, and a couple of nights ago had their final big battle.

As they parted, the publisher said the most insulting thing he could think of to Eloise.

(But you can't print that. Gloria Zilch plays sweet, patient parts on the screen, and her fans don't know what a bad temper she has—only her husbands do.)

This story's hero, a big bootlegger of the Prohibition era, has two names—one something like Joe Carter, under which he operated the swankiest speakeasy of the roaring twenties the other his real name, which was something like Joe Companito.

Recently he beat a local bookmaker out of a fortune, and then quit betting. So the bookmaker, a toughie right out of a Warner Brothers gangster film, hired two thugs to kidnap Joe.

They hid in the back seat of his car, parked outside a Broadway restaurant, put a gun in his back, and ordered him to drive.

When they got to a deserted point on 10th Avenue, they threw a burlap over his head—so he never saw their faces and they never saw his—took the wheel and drove him to the country.

"Hey, your face is familiar. Are you Joe Carter?"

"My real name," said the victim, "is Joe Companito."

With a whoop, the toughies pulled off the burlap bag, and Joe saw that they were two of his oldest and best pals—one of them a fellow whose life he had saved!

So they had a tender reunion, and then the two thugs went back to New York and beat up the bookmaker.

(But you can't print that. It might embarrass the boys, and you woudn't want to embarrass those boys, would you?)

Some months ago a politician in New York to visit the World's Fair, was introduced to a chorus girl who came from his home town. It was love at first sight, and for two weeks the politician and the girl hit the night spots together—the politician very incognito, of course.

When it was time for him to go home, he couldn't bear to leave her, so he asked her to come back to the state's capital with him, and he promised to get her her own night club.

But that proved too expensive, so now the ex-chorine is holding down an executive job in one of the government departments, and she's very happy. But the politician isn't. Because now that she's got a permanent job, the chorine has sent for her saxophone-playing boy friend to join her — and they're getting married next week!

(But you can't print that. The politician is a cinch to be re-elected unless the scandal breaks, and besides, his wife would be so humiliated.)

Lately the bandleaders at hotels and night clubs in town have been bothered by an amateur songwriter who keeps coming up to their bandstands and handing them lead sheets of his latest efforts. He's a quiet but persistent fellow of about 50, and he's dying to become one of the song-writing gang, but the maestros brush him off like a fly at a picnic.

So he goes and sits in Lindy's, just to get in the Tin Pan Alley atmosphere, but nobody gives him a tumble.

Mary X. is one of the more beautiful girls in the cafe society circles, and recently the other lasses who, like her, are popular because they're so pretty, envied her when she married a playboy with a fabulous bankroll. Boy-oh-boy, they predicted, will she take him for plenty. They knew it couldn't be love.

But what they didn't know was that for him it wasn't love, either. He just married Mary for spite, after a quarrel with the girl he really cared for. So the marriage ended in Reno in record time.

"She probably took him for plenty before she left."

But she didn't.

As a matter of fact, she's broke. She's got some newspaper clippings and a $1,800 ring, and that's all. Her cafe society friends don't know she's living in a $12-a-week room on the wrong side of the tracks.

Hollywood Speaks---

—By ROBBIN COONS

HOLLYWOOD—James Cagney is in training again. Daily, for a month, he has been working out with Stunt Man Harvey Parry in preparation for his role in "City for Conquest."

Just to see Cagney in the ring, working up a genuine sweat and cutting down his waistline by inches, is a reminder—by contrast—of old movie ring days when "training" was a major assignment. The boys who play "Cagney roles" today are different from some of their silent screen predecessors, who really suffered when they drew a pugilistic part after a merry round of non-pugilistic parties.

I remember the chaos at one of the lots in the old days when the slated hero of a boxing melodrama, told to "train," turned up missing. He was drunk not again, but yet. And the trainer, after the actor was located, had to keep an eye on the bottle as well as on the actor.

That sort of stuff hasn't gone in this town for some years now. It never did go with Jimmy Cagney. For one thing, he's not the partying type. For another, he couldn't be the type if he cared about it. The only picture Cagney ever had without at least one scrap was "A Midsummer Night's Dream."

"TAKES at least a day to get through a fight scene, sometimes more," says Jimmy, removing his rubber "teeth" after sparring a few rounds with Parry. "You've got to keep in shape to take it."

The Cagney-Parry schedule is no powder-puff routine. They're up at 7:30 for a wind-building jog of 5 to 6 miles. During the day there are six rounds of boxing and a couple of rounds of shadow-boxing, plus calisthenics. For six weeks before serious training began, they spent a vacation on Cagney's boat at an isolated cove on Catalina, swimming and fishing, climbing hills and sparring.

"City for Conquest," story of an East Side boy and a dancer (Ann Sheridan), is a four-year-old book by Aben Kandel. Cagney's brother Bill, the agent, finally talked the studio into buying it for Jimmy, and the book has been catching on belatedly. Frank Craven, Anthony Quinn and Blanche Yurka are among the players cast.

MISS YURKA, in her third film, has only a brief if important role as Sheridan's strident-voiced mother. If you saw "Queen of the Mob," you know how she can dominate a picture.

HOUSECLEANING STARTS IN 13 CITY SCHOOLS

Major Improvements to Be Made in Senior High and in Simpson Annex.

The summer reconditioning and "housecleaning" program is under way at Mansfield's school buildings which will be put in shape during the vacation period, according to J. B. Moke, superintendent of buildings.

Major improvements will be made in the John Simpson junior high annex and in the Senior high school cafeteria, Moke said.

In the John Simpson annex, walls will be painted, floors reconditioned, window sash repaired and cloak cupboards made into standard storage cupboards, the building superintendent added.

The main dining room in the Senior high school cafeteria will be painted. Boilers in all the buildings have been inspected and repairs are being made, Moke said.

With the exception of the grounds at the new Johnny Appleseed junior high building where there is still some work to be done, the grounds at all the schools have been leveled, fertilized, and reseeded wherever necessary.

By authority of the board of education, Moke granted the American Society of University Women permission to use the dramatics room at the John Simpson building for meetings on the evenings of Nov. 5 and Dec. 3, 1940, and Feb. 4 and April 1, 1941. The board set the charge at $3 per meeting.

Moke figured the cost of operating each of the junior and senior high school auditoriums on a week-day evening at $20 and at $25 for Saturday and Sunday nights. The figures, he said, include heating, lighting and janitor work.

Mansfield Masons Hold 27th Annual Picnic Tomorrow

Mansfield Masons will gather tomorrow noon at South park for the 27th annual Mystic club picnic.

A picnic dinner will be served at noon and in the event of rain, dinner will be served at the Masonic Temple between 5 and 7 p. m., officials said. A program of games has been planned for the afternoon.

The event is for all Masons and is sponsored annually by the Mystic club. Mystic club directors in charge of picnic arrangements are Earl E. Bates, H. L. Dent, R. N. Campbell, D. A. McCullough, W. H. Barr, Carl A. Wolfarth, Tolman Burns, George H. Culler and J. E. Snyder.

Horses will stand the heat better if they have free access to common salt.

Another Notch for a Nazi

Like the gunmen who in America's wild west pioneer days notched their guns for every victory, the pilot of this German fighting ship paints the insigna on tail of his plane for every enemy shot down. The first three planes were downed in the Polish campaign.

GIRL, 16, TO BE CROWNED QUEEN AT PARK STRAWBERRY FESTIVAL

Crowning of 16-year-old Doris Radovich, 25 Crestline avenue, as queen, will highlight the 24th annual Johns park strawberry festival to be held at the park tomorrow night.

Miss Radovich will be crowned at 8 p. m., opening the annual festival, sponsored by the Johns park association.

She was chosen queen Tuesday night from a group of junior and Senior high school students who attended a dance at the park pavilion. About 90 boys and girls attended the affair.

This marks the first time that a queen has been chosen to reign over the festival. Two small children are to be selected to serve as her attendants.

Music during the evening will be provided by the accordion band from Smart's studio.

Harry Bowman, president of the park association, is chairman in charge of the festival. He is being assisted by Ed Wyllie, member of the association, and an officer of the Mansfield Public Park association.

NAMED HEAD OF COUNTRY DAY SCHOOL HERE

Angeline Shaneff, Former Instructor, to Return as Director Next Fall.

Miss Angeline P. Shaneff of Indianapolis, Ind., will become the new director of the Country Day school next fall, it was announced today.

Miss Shaneff will succeed Mrs. Vivian V. Haynes who has taken a position in St. Louis, Mo.

Miss Shaneff taught at the Day school four years ago. She went east and received her B. S. degree in education at Columbia university, and also studied on her masters degree at the same school and took undergraduate work at Butler university. She later taught at Brich Wathen private progressive school in New York City and at Pingry School for Boys in Elizabeth, N. J.

In addition to serving as director, Miss Shaneff will also teach the fourth, fifth and sixth grades, it was announced. When in Mansfield before, she was a member of the Philomathian club, the American Association of University Women and played in the Mansfield symphony orchestra.

Miss Shaneff is now in Mansfield to interview parents. She will be at the school for interviews today and tomorrow.

She is the house guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Black, Millsboro road, and will return early in September for the opening of school Sept. 4. She will also interview parents in the fall.

New Director

Miss Angeline P. Shaneff above of Indianapolis, Ind., has been named new director of the Country Day school. Miss Shaneff taught at the school here four years, and is returning to Mansfield after teaching in eastern schools. In addition to acting as director she will also teach the fourth, fifth and sixth grades.

TALLMAN RITES

BUCYRUS — Last rites were held Wednesday afternoon in the Wise funeral home for Paul R. Tallman, 29, who was drowned Sunday afternoon in Sandusky river, north of Fremont in a motorboat accident, which took the lives of two. Services were held Tuesday afternoon for his companion, Robert Etzinger, 30, father of five small children. A third member of the party, Earl Tallman, escaped.

MOTORCYCLE

Highway Commission Baffled By Odd Contraption.

CHARLESTON, W. Va.—(U.P.)—The state road commission will lose no more sleep over the classification of Robert Duke's "whatchmacallit"—the contraption he drives daily between Bakerston and Shepherdstown. Here's the reason (or reasons) the commission was baffled:

The frame took shape out of old iron girders salvaged from the Harper's Ferry bridge after it crashed in a flood in 1936. The springs were once part of a radio wind charger, and a cream separator gave up the drive chain tightener.

The motor was discarded from a motorcycle, and the exhaust pipe was an erstwhile integral part of a vacuum cleaner.

So the commission pondered, the commission puzzled, and finally the commission said a motorcycle license would suffice.

BIRTHDAY PARTY

WIDOWVILLE—The 75th birthday anniversary of Mrs. Albert Harp was celebrated Sunday when 64 guests including children, grand children and great grandchildren from Galion, Bucyrus, Wooster, dinner was served at noon. Mansfield and Ashland came. A picnic dinner was served at noon.

EATS RODENTS

Golden Eagle Feeds Upon Prairie Dogs.

COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo.—(U.P.) The golden eagle, only recently accorded protection by an act of Congress in its capacity as the American national bird, does something besides occupy his perch on the "tail" side of a half dollar, findings of fish commissions and universities in Colorado, Wyoming and Idaho reveal.

Ascents high into the Rocky mountains to photograph eagles' nests revealed that the big birds feed primarily on prairie dogs during early summer.

C. C. Spencer, staff technician of the Pike national forest in Colorado, said that the rodents consume a total of 26.2 per cent of available grazing land each year. Other rodents bring the annual total to 35.5 per cent, he said.

Original purpose of the expeditions was to determine what effect eagles have in the increasing depletion of western Big Horn sheep herds. Spencer said no evidence had been found that eagles prey on the sheep, although further investigation will be conducted.

100 YEARS OLD

KALISPELL, Mont. — (U.P.)— A beaver top hat made more than 100 year ago by his grandfather has been produced by Oliver Vose for use in a western celebration here.

ROOF DRAINAGE CHECK IN CITY NEAR FINISH

The roof drainage survey of Mansfield, a WPA project which has been under way for the past three months, will be concluded next week, according to City Engineer W. C. Statler.

The survey report, expected to show the cause and the remedy for storm water flooding Mansfield basements after hard rains, will closely follow the worst rain storm of the year which flooded more than a 1,000 basements Tuesday.

Statler said that the survey covered 9,636 structures within the city of Mansfield, taking in most of the buildings in the city.

Of this number 2,934 were found to be draining roof water into the sanitary sewers, a condition which floods sewers and causes them to back into basements during a storm. Most of the other structures were probably turning roof drainage into the storm sewers.

It was found that a number of buildings and houses were erected before there were storm sewers and at that time it was thought necessary to turn the roof water into sanitary lines.

A similar survey made by the city in 1915 and which was never followed up with legislature action to change conditions, showed that there were 50 acres of roof area in the city shedding water into the sanitary sewers. This year's survey will show only a small increase, with about 60 acres of roof area turning storm waters into the city's sanitary outlets, officials said.

Following the Tuesday storm when city offices were flooded with protests from citizen, Mayor W. J. Locke said that action would be taken to have property owners comply with the law in the matter of roof drainage.

DOGS COSTLY

Licenses Priced Higher Than Marriage Permits.

HARRISBURG — (INS.) — In many Pennsylvania counties a dog license costs more than a marraige license, state health authorities revealed.

Marriage license fees range from 50 cents up, depending upon the county. No regulation covering the cost of a license appears in the state marriage laws.

Weddings in Pennsylvania have decreased by 10,000 or nearly 15 per cent a year due to the legislation imposed by the 1939 legislature requiring applicants to wait three days before obtaining the necessary permit.

State Department Busiest In Washington

With the international situation becoming more complex every day, the busiest of the government offices is the state department. Pictured above is an informal session presided over by Secretary of State Cordell Hull. Others are Undersecretary of State Sumner Welles, facing assistant secretaries Berle, Long, Grady, legal advisor Hackworth and Counselor R. Walton Moore.

Retailers in 80 Cities Use Greater Advertising Space.

CHICAGO—Retail activity in 80 major cities during the week ended June 8 was greater than during the corresponding week of 1939, Advertising Age reported today, basing its conclusions on the volume of retail newspaper advertising placed during that week.

Retailers in the 80 cities measured placed a total of 20,130,358 lines of display advertising in their newspapers during that week, the advertising publication says, compared with 19,561,736 during the corresponding weeks of 1939, an increase of 2.9 per cent.

For the 23-week period since the first of the year, retail newspaper advertising in these cities has totaled 439,780,815 lines, the publication said, as compared with 432,885,650 lines in 1939.

FOREST FURY + + + + + + + + +

By OREN ARNOLD
(Copyright 1940)

CHAPTER VI

"Hello. And don't mind Bob. He's a little hazy sometimes. What he means is, my dad is the district forest supervisor, Bob's boss, and so is important in Bob's eyes. He supposes everybody knows Mr. McKee. Are you a tourist?"

* * *

The two girls spent a moment enjoying Bob's misery and in getting acquainted. They were vastly different types. Sue was a good five inches taller than Rosemary, and at least five or six shades darker of skin. Her hair was definitely black, but her eyes were as blue as Bob's—a truly striking contrast, which Rosemary noted instantly. Despite Sue's throatly musical drawl, the remarkable coloring enlivened her, and made her beautiful, Rosemary saw.

'I rode over to leave a message for you, Bob," Sue said, after the general talk. "I will have to break our date tonight, but you can come the other nights as usual. Tonight mother has a task for me."

It was an easy, casual statement, friend to friend, Rosemary knew. And yet, in that moment the New York girl sensed something strangely electric, too. The other nights as usual!

She couldn't have explained it. She just had an intuitional sense about it. A realization that Bob King, standing near enough so that her shoulder touched his arm, was not in the least disappointed, was on the contrary, distinctly glad. Glad that so lovely a girl as Sue McKee had broken a date with him? Rosemary looked up at Sue. It didn't make sense, but she knew it to be true. She could have sworn, from the same intuition, that Sue was destined to have some profound influence in her own life.

"Thanks, Sue," Bob said. "I'm sorry, but it's all right. Matter of fact, I've got a job to do myself, tonight. A selling job. I've got to convince somebody this country we live in is the happiest, best country in all the world!"

On her fifth day in Arizona, Rosemary Taylor realized that circumstances had reached out its tenacles and gripped her with diabolical force. She sat alone in her room considering the matter.

"I have less than $20 in cash left," she said. "I haven't a cent in the bank anywhere. And I have a western trading post on my hands."

It was a short but inclusive summary. Also, it was a challenge.

True, she might have taken some money from the post cash register or safe. She had credentials to prove her ownership of the place, had in fact already established that. But she had barely been in the post except on superficial inspection as on that first day. She had hastened away then and advertised the establishment for sale.

In her imagination she thought she could sell it in a few hours. That was how sadly little she, a New York office secretary, knew about such business details.

She had spent money on advertisements in daily papers, and she had listed the place with real estate offices in Flagstaff. Beyond that there seemed nothing to do. Several answers to the newspaper ads came but they were just feeler inquiries from people not yet ready to commit themselves. She was hopeful at first, downcast about it as the week slipped by.

She found no time to be morose or introspective, if she had been so inclined. Ranger Bob King saw to that. Somehow this energetic young man managed to have official business near her most of the time that week. The fact that heavy rainfall on the day of her arrival in Arizona had momentarily reduced the forest fire hazard to zero, was an asset in Bob's favor. Soon, real soon, when the crisp dry winds and brilliant sun of summer bore down, Bob and other rangers would have to be alert every second of the night and day. One careless match in this great forest area then could easily launch a million-dollar destruction.

Bob was a persistant propagandist. He loved Arizona, especially northern Arizona, with a loyalty amounting to fanaticism. His personal manner backed up his enthusiasm so that Rosemary couldn't possibly be bored or unhappy. Sue McKee, too, had been more than hospitable and kind; she and Rosemary somehow had drifted quickly into friendship, utterly different types though they were. Mayhap this very difference accounted for it.

And Dr. Montgomery—what a prince of a fellow he had turned out to be! Even if he were a trifle—well, queer.

He was bookish. And too shy. Prone to be too retiring, or to speak loftily when he did speak. But he was so grateful to Rosemary for saving his life that she couldn't help liking him. He had succumbed wholly to Bob King's praise of the wild country around them. He had reported himself courteously and pleasurably to the faculty in Flagstaff college, who in turn had showed immediate hospitality of their own, escorting him to important archaeological mounds, cliff dwellings, excavations and ruins. And he had maneuvered to see Rosemary often, too.

Without stopping to think why, it was Dr. Montgomery to whom Rosemary went this morning. She drove direct to his boarding house in Flagstaff.

"Monty," she had held to her initial familiarity, "whether I want to or not, I've got to take over the post and run it."

"So," he nodded.

"But I'll like it! I'll make myself like it. I will!"

"Oh. Doubtless, Miss Taylor. You are intelligent. Adaptability is the mark of Americans everywhere. A fine trait."

"Listen, Monty, I saved your life, you say, and I sat pretty close to you in the car, shivering wet. Isn't that informality enough to make you drop the miss! I like plain Rosemary better."

She smiled sweetly at him, then was amused to see him blush.

"Quite so," he beamed. "Miss—ah, ah, Rosemary. Yes, indeed! Um." He paused to swallow. "I am happy that you have decided not to sell."

"I didn't decide. My buyers decided for me. They didn't show up."

That's disappointing. But you were a business woman in New York. You can be one here, at least until such time as—oh, what of your relatives? Can you get them to—?"

Rosemary sighed. "No. I'm alone. I have a brother—wayward, I believe, is the word for him—but he wouldn't do, even if I knew just where he was. I'm used to playing solo."

"I say, Miss Ta—Rosemary, I admire you! Your spunk is creditable, surely."

"Thanks, Monty. You don't pay many compliments. That makes them nicer."

"I am not just speaking for effect, my dear. I mean it. You are—ah, a good sport." He was unconscious of the phrase "my dear," or its possible connotations. His was a standard schoolroom manner. But the compliment was sincere and Rosemary knew it. She smiled again.

"That funny Indian keeps our money buried," she said. "The safe is actually under the floor. The store money, I mean."

"Um." Monty looked serious. "That is perhaps wise. Best protection from theft and fire. Is there—much?"

"Several hundred dollars. Operating capital and small change."

"Bonds?"

"Yes, Ro-Rosemary. Or some sound investment. Surplus money must not lay idle. It is wrong in principle and in fact."

"Oh, Monty! Goodness! Thank you a lot, and no fooling. I know so darn little about these things. I—I really think that's why I hesitate about taking over the store myself."

"You needn't feel concerned. You—ah—you—perhaps it would be wisest to retain the—ah, Indian. For a time, that is. Until he can assist you into the routine. I have already presumed to look about the post a bit, my dear, and I feel certain that I might suggest certain advantageous changes, in a small way, which would enhance efficiency. You see, I taught business administration for two years. Archaelogy was my hobby, and it led to a specialty in itself because there was a faculty demand for it. I, ah, your store—"

"Monty, you're a prince! I'm so glad you're staying around here. I bet I ask you a million questions and—why, there's Bob!"

There, in truth, was Bob.

A beaming, ultraneat Bob, leaving a United States Forest Service automobile and coming toward them, smiling.

"Hi, kids!" he boomed. "Beautiful day. How's the big Indian-trader, ma'am? And is the archaeology market up today?"

Bob's geniality was contagious. He held the easy assurance of a man accustomed to doing things. Self-reliance, which might have been mistaken for conceit, was strong in him and the masculine nature of it was entrancing to Rosemary.

"Had a hunch I might locate you through the professor," he was saying now, "even if I didn't actually find you here."

"We were talking business," Rosemary put in. "Monty is my business advisor and ——"

"Oh. Oh, all right! It'll be fun. Come on, Monty!"

Without further ado she grabbed Dr. Montgomery's arm and literally forced that reticent one to trip down the boarding-house steps with her and Bob. Bob glanced at Monty, and at Rosemary, but Rosemary was talking gaily.

Whether she did it purposely or not, nobody could say. Bob hadn't meant to include Monty in the invitation. Still, he hadn't meant any open rudeness or even a discourtesy. Under the circumstances, he was thus jockeyed right into taking the other man as a guest also. And Monty, towed rapidly by Rosemary, could make no adequate protest himself. In truth, whenever Rosemary's ebullient youth began to show itself, Archie Montgomery was always confused. Best he could do was to swim along with her tide.

The three sat together in Bob's car and were driven to a public stable near the Flagstaff College campus. A dozen or more fine horses were kept there especially for students who liked to ride. Rosemary talked a lot en route, Bob laughing and chatting with her. When they got out at the stables, of course the three walked together.

"Sure, Mr. King," the man said. "Make yourself right at home. You want me to help saddle?"

"Oh, no. Nothing to that. Thanks. We'll be gone two hours or so."

They selected three paint horses. Fine animals with splotches of red and white and tan, suggesting the Painted Dessert, as Bob said.

Bob stossed a lariat loop easily, pulled in one horse ad bridled it for Rosemary. Next one he turned over to Monty, then the third one for himself. He handled the lasso as a cowboy would, casually, with no waste motions or unnecessary ado.

As of one accord, they moved to the saddle shed, Bob and Rosemary talking gaily about the animals and about anything else that came to mind. Bob had his mount and Rosemary's saddled in a minute or so. Neither he nor she had observed Archie Montgomery.

The professor found himself stymied. By observation he had known how to lead the horse after the others, but the saddling had been accomplished too rapidly for him to observe. He stood staring dumbly at Bob, saying not a thing.

Don't Suffer PERIODIC PAINS
"Try This Way For Relief
Mrs. Cora Davis writes: "Functional periodic pains caused me so much misery that I was weak and nervous. I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription for a while, was relieved of the pain, and gained strength."
FOR over 70 years, countless thousands of women, who suffered functional monthly pains, have taken Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription over a period of time—and have been overjoyed to find that this famous remedy has helped them ward off much of the monthly discomforts.
Most amazing, this scientific remedy, formulated by a practicing physician, is guaranteed to contain no harmful drugs—no narcotics. In a scientific way, it improves nutritional assimilation: helps build you up and so increases your resistance and fortifies you against much of the dreaded functional pains. Lessens nervousness during this trying period.
